VICTORIA B. C., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1911

NO. 63

MAKE VICTORIA A NATIONAL PORT OF THE FIRST CLASS

TO THE CITIZENS OF VICTORIA:

A question of paramount importance to every business man, every property owner and every workingman in the city of Victoria, is, "What is to be the future of Victoria as a commercial port?"

Occupying, as it does, an unrivalled position on the Pacific, Victoria has not reached that stage of development as a port that its splendid geographical situation has made possible; the reasons it is needless here to discuss. But, unquestionably, one reason that could be urged against any considerable increase in our present limited sea-borne trade is the utter inadequacy of the harbors, outer and inner, and it is probably not too much to say that if the facilities for shipping are permitted to remain for the next six years as they now are, the tremendous development in shipping that will follow the opening of the Panama canal will find the accommodation in more enterprising ports which is denied it in this. That trade once fixed in other channels may never be diverted to Victoria.

Now, then, is the time to consider that question and to settle for all time the future of Victoria as a great commercial and shipping port. Her destiny in other respects is assured.

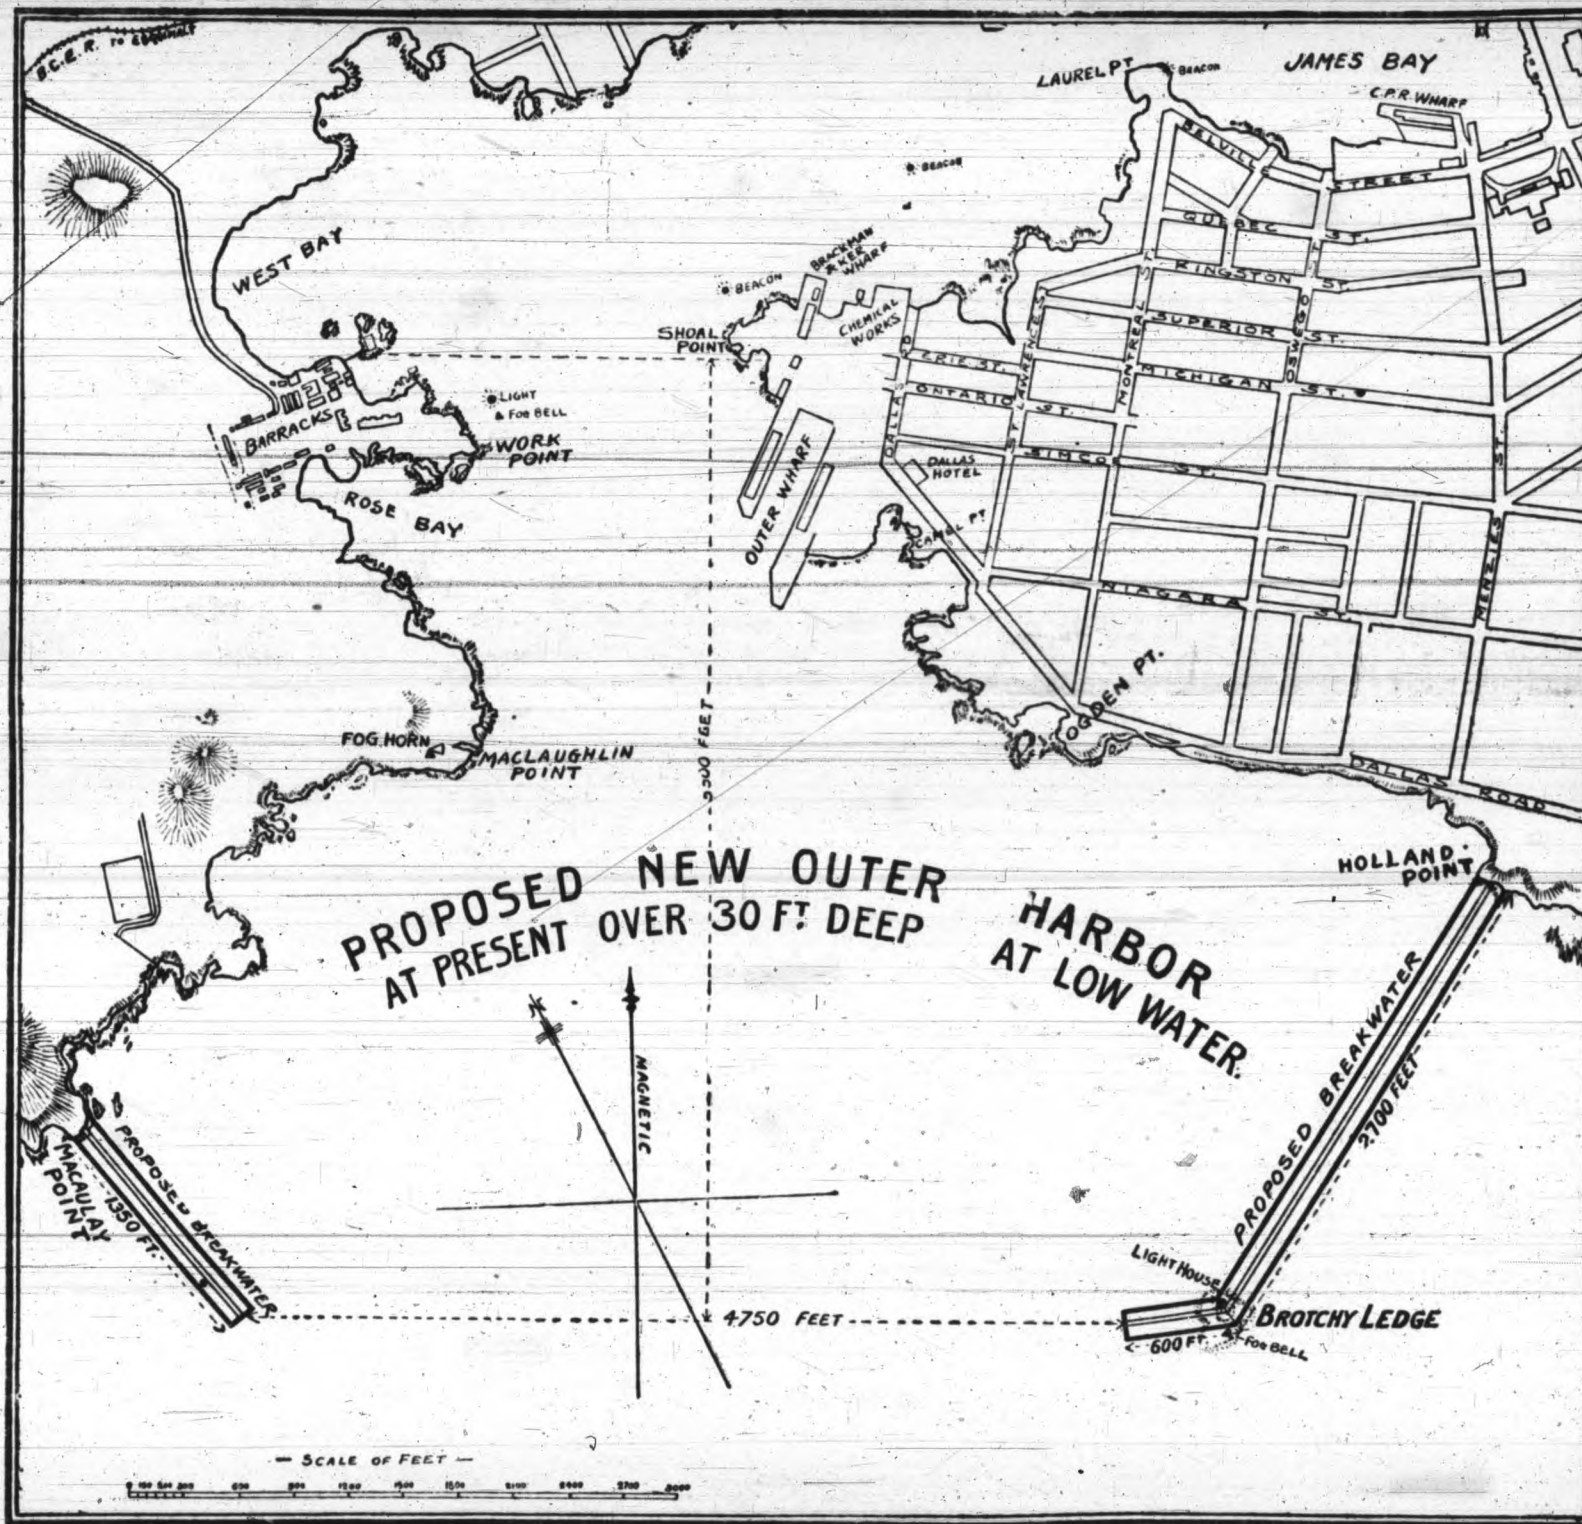

The growth in Victoria shipping during the last ten years has been very great. Ten years ago, yes, five years ago, the harbor was large enough to accommodate all vessels; to-day it is taxed to its full capacity, and frequently the inner harbor is altogether inadequate for the business now being done. When the Panama canal is opened the number of large vessels coming to North Pacific Coast points will be enormously increased. Anticipating the completion of this canal in 1914, many of the sea port cities to the South are already undertaking harbor enlargements, and on Puget Sound, many millions of dollars will be expended for the accommodation of the increased tonnage that must inevitably come to these Northern ports when the round-the-world route is finally established.

The breakwater shown in the plan will secure a perfectly safe harbor, completely protected from southwesterly winds. A breakwater from Holland Point to Brothie Ledge, 2,700 feet in length, with a wing from Brothie Ledge westerly for a distance of 600 feet, with an additional breakwater from McCauley Point for a distance of 1,350 feet in a southeasterly direction, will enclose over 650 acres of water of sufficient depth, measured inward to Laurel Point. Complete protection will be afforded to the outer harbor and to the entrance to the inner harbor. Within this enclosure the most ample provision can be made for the accommodation of all deep draught ocean going vessels, and a system of dockage, private or otherwise, will be developed in wharves and storehouses, which would by degrees grow with the growth of shipping and provide for all time to come.

Mr. Geo. E. Keefer, resident engineer of Dominion Public Works, estimates the cost of these two breakwaters at $2,000,000, that is, $1,280,000 for the Holland Point breakwater and $720,000

Breakwaters at Outer Harbor and Deepening Inner Harbor to Cost $3,000,000

Hon. Mr. Templeman Unreservedly Endorsed a Project of Supreme Importance--Prepare for Trade Following Opening Panama Canal

(approximately) for the other. Mr. Sorby, C.E., an earnest advocate for years of an improved harbor, estimated the cost of the first named breakwater at a little over a million dollars. In addition to this, it is estimated that the cost of deepening the inner harbor to a uniform depth will be about $1,000,000, or a total harbor improvement of $3,000,000. This work, it is contemplated, can be completed in four years, at an annual expenditure of $750,000 a year.

With the advent of the trade via the Panama canal, and the increased expansion of the trans-Pacific shipping, the present is a critical time in the history of the development of this city. It is a time when all responsible citizens should calmly calculate the fits which will accrue to business and to the value of holdings in the city, immediately upon the undertaking of this great work. That it will mean the commencement of a new era in the prosperity of Victoria needs no argument, and that such development once begun must continue for a long time to come, is as evident as a great future for the Western Coast of Canada is firmly established. There is no one who has fixed interests or investments in Victoria or on Vancouver Island to whom this is not plain, that in making provision for such shipping as must naturally seek this port, the city of Victoria will soon realize the expectations which have all along been the hope and

Proposed Improvement Inner Harbor

It is for the citizens to set their seal upon this project. That is their part in the present climax. The eyes of the world are turned toward the last West in Canada. Development is far reaching and includes every part of the province. The shipping of the future must have its world-wide centre established at some point on the Pacific seaboard, and there is every reason why Victoria should be the point. Other cities will contend for it, and other interests will endeavor to carry it elsewhere. But with completion of the works above outlined, Victoria may rest secure in her position, confident that the progress of the near future will outrival that of the immediate past in everything that goes to make a city industrially great and commercially prosperous.

This project has not originated with me. It has been advocated for many years by the Board of Trade and many prominent citizens interested in the city's transportation problem. Tentative plans have been discussed and estimates made. I have but adopted the views of those best competent to express an opinion, and while the project, as outlined, may require minor changes when it comes to be worked out in detail by the engineers, I am satisfied it will not be found necessary to alter it in any essential particular.

If I have the honor to be your representative in the next Parliament, occupying a seat in the Dominion House, it will be my duty to secure the commencement of this work as soon as the engineer can prepare plans and specifications and an appropriation is obtained for the purpose at the coming session of Parliament. The Premier and the Minister of Public Works are personally familiar with the conditions here and the need of improvement, and will favor the making of Victoria a great national port. The project, insofar as its necessity and its cost are concerned, has been approved, the Government being fully convinced that the commerce of the city demands an outlay which will enable Victoria to retain pre-eminence among the ports handling the trade of the Pacific.

The improvement of the middle harbor is an immediate requirement and can be proceeded with simultaneously with the building of the breakwater at Holland Point, which should be the first of the breakwaters to be constructed.

The waterfront along the Victoria West front and on James Bay side, now inaccessible, will be rendered available for commercial purposes, and docks can be built with rail connections to provide transportation facilities for vessels up to the size of the Blue Funnel liners and the new C. P. R. Empresses.

To render the inner harbor easy of access for the largest type of coasting vessels a portion of Laurel Point will be removed and the minimum depth requisite for such vessels will be carried the harbor width.

The upper harbor is now being dredged to a depth of 25 feet, and that work will be completed within the time specified.

A contract has already been entered into with the B. C. Marine Railway to construct a drydock of the first class, which that company will push with all possible expedition.

Within the next three years the work will be sufficiently advanced to enable the port to take care of the readjustment of trade consequent upon the opening of the Panama canal and the opening of new markets for our products, as a result of the Reciprocity treaty with the United States.

The accomplishment of this work I shall regard as one of the most direct services I have been privileged to render my fellow citizens, and I expect to be able to continue my efforts so as to ensure the completion of a harbor fit for Greater Victoria.

Yours respectfully,
WM. TEMPLEMAN.

The following telegrams are self-explanatory:

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 9, 1911.

HON. W. PUGSLEY,

St. John, N. B.

I propose issuing an address to the electors in which I will state that the government will make Victoria a port of first class by building breakwaters and deepening outer and inner harbors to adequate depth to accommodate all shipping. The cost, on Keefer's estimates, will be about $2,000,000 for breakwaters, and about $1,000,000 for deepening harbor, annual expenditure to be about $500,000. These proposed works have been approved of for years and the harbor work that has been carried out for the last eight years has been with the definite object of securing the results contemplated in above project. At the present rate of progress it will take twenty or thirty years to do what should be done in at the most three or four years. The opening of the Panama canal three years hence makes this work a national necessity. I will be pleased to have your approval of above.

WM. TEMPLEMAN.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 10, 1911.

HON. WM. TEMPLEMAN,

Victoria, B. C.

Your telegram of the ninth instant, re harbor improvements, Victoria, received. When I was in your city I looked thoroughly into the situation and was impressed with the urgent necessity of the improvements now recommended by you, and will heartily endorse your proposals as contained in said telegram.

WILLIAM PUGSLEY.

BREAKWATER WITH OCEAN DOCKS

Scheme With Details for Harbor Facilities and Description as Proposed by T. C. Sorby, C. E.

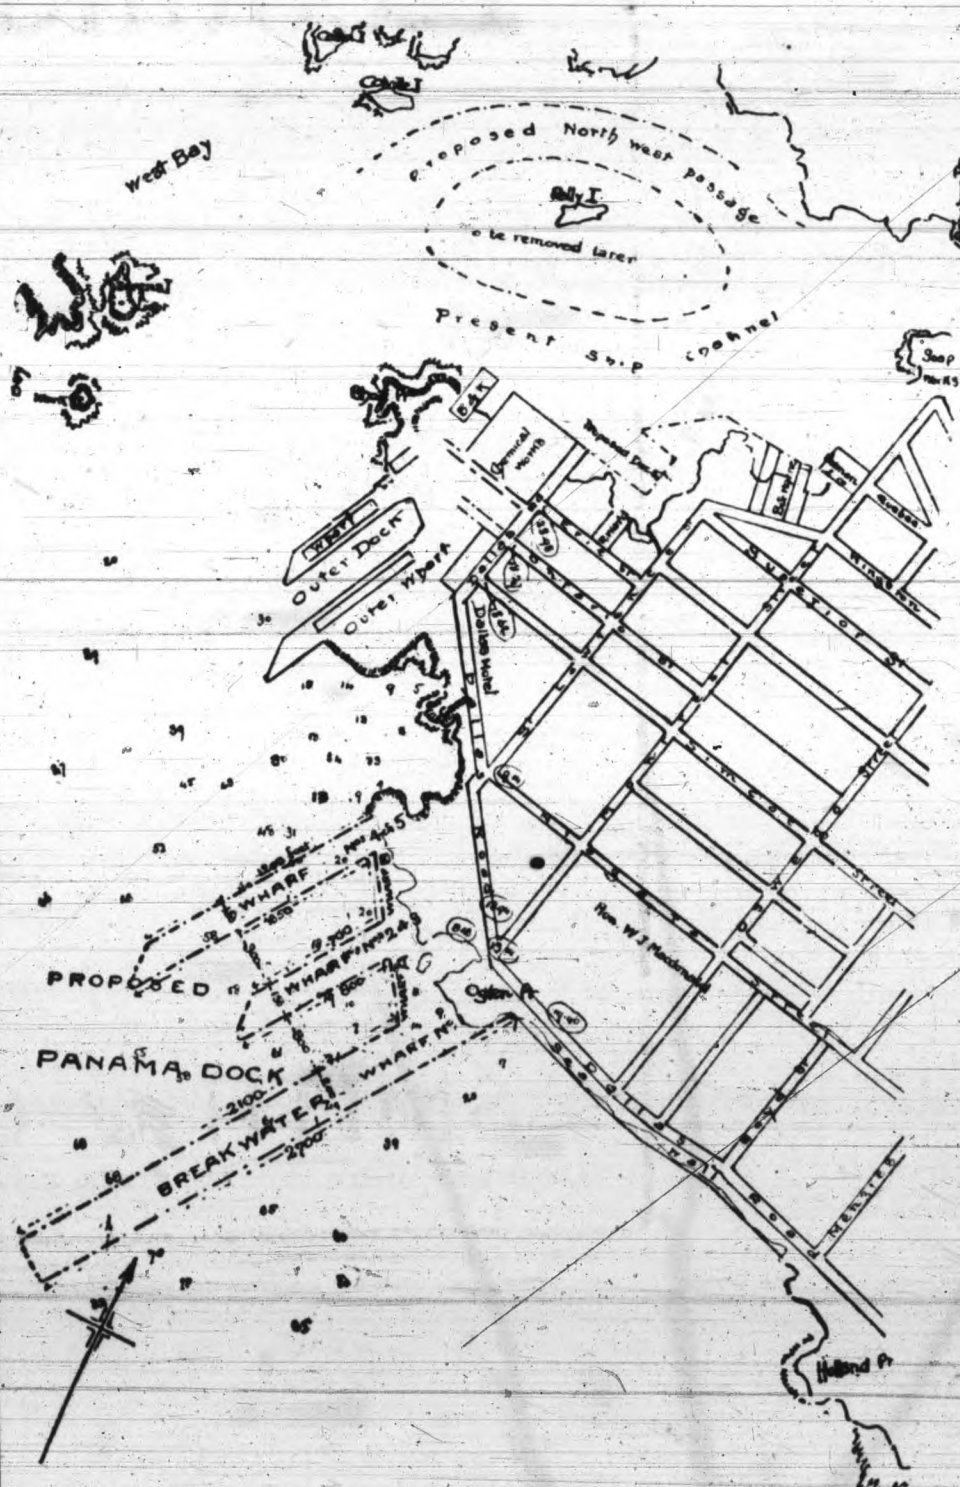

The proposed breakwater off Dallas Road, under the plan shown, would extend outwards from Ogden Point (the northerly end of the new sea wall now building) in a southwesterly direction to a distance of about 2,700 feet, and would afford protection to the entrance to the harbor, the outer wharf, the coast line from McLaughlin Point inwards (including Ross Bay, West Bay and the proposed northwest passage) from all rough water from the east, southeast to the southwest.

This work of public utility is necessary in view of the great development of trade that will follow the completion of the Panama canal, opening up a short route to and from Europe and the ports of the Atlantic. A breakwater, as such, is beyond the limits of any private enterprise. It should be a purely national work and, started on the lines indicated, would build up and foster a branch of trade as yet undeveloped, and of great national importance, for the cultivation of which the ports to the south of British Columbia will invest millions of dollars.

Such breakwater would be constructed of Australian lumber (as being torredo proof), similar to that now being used on the C. P. R. wharf, filled in with large rubble, forming a bank on the outside, the spreading base from low water being surmounted by massive reinforced concrete. This quay wall would be about 200 ft. wide, on which spacious warehouses could be built, with every modern convenience for the expeditious handling and storing of merchandise to and from the ships. The B. C. Electric railway is already within two blocks and could be easily connected up with lines to the warehouses. This electric railway must, sooner or later, develop a complete harbor railway, as part of its own system, traversing the public thoroughfares adjacent to the wharves and docks, connecting up those

COUNTERFEITERS ACTIVE

Gang Is Reported at Work on Pacific Coast.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—The secret service states that a dangerous gang of National bank note counterfeiters, which has been lying low for a year, is again operating on the Pacific Coast.

A counterfeit $5 note in a Pasadena, Cal., National Bank was brought to the secret service headquarters to-day and was declared to be the work of the same gang which last year counterfeited notes on National banks in Los Angeles and elsewhere in California and in Portugal, Ore.

The activity of the secret service men a year ago stopped the operations of the counterfeiters.

VERDICT GIVEN TO JAMES DUNSMUIR

WINS BOTH ACTIONS IN THE SUPREME COURT
Claim Established to $700,000 Dividend, Ships, Coal in the Bunkers and Debts Collected

Judgment was given yesterday afternoon by Chief Justice Hunter for Hon. James Dunsmuir in the action brought in the Supreme court against him by Sir William Mackenzie, president of the Canadian Northern railway. In respect to the sale of the Wellington Collieries in June 1910. In the case brought by Mr. Dunsmuir against Sir William Mackenzie, Mr. Dunsmuir is also the winner and is to receive the collected accounts since the transfer that belonged to the old firm, and has established his right to the value of the coal in the C. P. R. bunkers at Vancouver which was delivered before the transfer of the stock.

Mr. Dunsmuir's right to the dividend of $700,000 is also established by the verdict of the court. In reference to ships used in connection with the coal business the decision is that the scows, barges, etc., used in the business would go in the transfer, but no vessel which was ordinarily used in connection with the business of the mine would pass. The judgment was delivered by his lordship immediately after short arguments had been heard, and reads as follows:

I do not think that I will gain anything by reserving judgment. In view of the fact that everything has been said, as far as I can see, that can be of any assistance to the court in coming to a conclusion.

With respect to a transaction of this magnitude there are, of course, two ways in which the parties may reduce into writing their intention with respect to the various matters dealt with, one by a short and compendious agreement such as we have before us, and the other by a much more elaborate agreement, which would have made all necessary provisions about all matters in detail. Of course, with respect to a transaction of this kind it would almost have been impossible, I think, of the parties to have by means of an elaborate detailed agreement covered everything which it was the intention of the parties to deal with, and so necessarily from the character of the transaction I think that they did the best thing that they could have done, and that is to reduce the agreement into a short and compendious scope.

Now, that being the case, and there being no itemized list of the properties which were intended to be passed, but only a general description of them, it is, in the nature of things, necessary that parole evidence should be received in order to identify the subject-matter of the agreement, at all events, with respect to the property which it is intended shall be transferred. I say that in the nature of the thing because if that were not so, and if parties were driven in dealing with transactions of this magnitude to carefully elaborate everything which they intended to pass, it would of course obviously be a serious impediment to the transaction of business. And therefore I think the law is quite reasonable in permitting parties to express their intention in a short and compendious fashion; and so it becomes necessary to allow parole evidence to be given in case of dispute, to identify the subject-matter of their bargain.

Dealing with the agreement in question I think that two things stand out very clearly. The first is that there was an intention on the part of one party to sell and of the other party to buy, all the coal in sight and all the mining machinery and appliances that were used in connection with the coal areas for mines which were to be sold by one and purchased by the other. The language reads, "all his properties in British Columbia or in California in anywise relating to coal or coal mines and fire clay and all machinery, articles or things used, or which may be used in connection herewith."

It is necessary, of course, for the court to determine, either at once, or by means of a reference, there being a dispute as to what properties did pass under that description. In the event of a dispute there must, I think, be a reference to find out what properties were of the character described in this sentence.

The second thing that stands out very clearly as well, I think, in the agreement, is that the vendor was to remain in the beneficial enjoyment of the property until he was paid in full. These paragraphs deal with that, viz.:
 "5. The vendor will not give up possession of the properties owned by the said companies until paid in full."
 "6. When paid in full the vendor will assign the shares and turn over the properties of the said companies to the purchasers, his executors, administrators and assigns."

"7. The vendor will pay all expenses of operation and up-keep up to the day of giving up possession, and shall be entitled to retain for his own use all the earnings of the properties up to the day of giving up possession."
 "8. The shares and properties will be assigned and turned over free from all liabilities."

"9. The properties of the two companies will be kept intact by the vendor during the continuance of this option subject only to shipment of coal in the ordinary course of business."

Now, those five clauses seem to me to make it very clear that if there was anything clearly intended by both parties and agreed to by both parties the full amount which the agreement called upon them to pay, that the vendor was to remain in the absolute beneficial enjoyment of the property, subject only to its limitations, that he was not either to alienate or encumber the properties, but was to hand them over to the full payment of the money, unincumbered and intact so far as alienation is concerned.

With respect, then, to the properties which have passed, there being no dispute as to some of the coal areas that have not yet been transferred, I think that it is necessary to have a reference, if the parties are unable to agree, to find out what properties relating to coal mines and fire clay have not yet been transferred.

With respect to ships, I find no mention of ships in the agreement; and unless there are vessels, such as barges or scows, which can fairly be characterized as machinery, articles or things which may be used in connection with the coal mine or coal mines, I do not think that those were intended to pass by the agreement. It will, however, be necessary, I suppose, to have a reference to find out which vessels or barges or scows, if any, were ordinarily used in connection with any of these mines. Such vessels or scows or barges would, I take it, pass under this agreement. But no vessel which was ordinarily used in connection with the business of the mine, would, I take it, have passed under this clause.

With respect to the farm, all I can say about it on the evidence, is that that farm is vested in the vendor personally, that according to him, sales were made of the proceeds of the farm to the Wellington Colliery Company in the usual course of business, that the employees of that farm were not paid by the colliery company, but by himself; and so far as I can say, there is nothing proved to me that that farm could be said to be in any way appurtenant to the mine. I therefore think that the farm belongs to the defendant. (Concluded on page 26.)

stated in order to show how false and hypocritical is the present campaign of resistance to the measure. It can best be placed before the mind of the reader by the statement of an hypothetical case, which for sake of illustration we do.The agreement entered into between Canada and United States upon which the vote of the people is to be taken one week from to-day was submitted to the House of Commons on January 26 of this year. Let us suppose that its terms had been exactly the reverse,
and that instead of moving for the ratification of the reciprocity pact Hon. W. S. Fielding had stood up in his place in the House and had said:"Gentlemen of the House of Commons, we are approaching a crisis in our relations with the United States;
we are doing a very large trade with these people and it is increasing with every year. Last year our trade with them was $350,000,000, and the prospects for the interchange of products between us for the year 1911 is that the value will reach the enormous sum of $400,000,000. I think the position is becoming alarming; I fear that we are becoming entangled in business relations with the United States which may seriously interfere with the development of our Imperial attachment; I can realize that we are likely to weaken the bonds of Empire if this thing goes on. Gentlemen, while I do not think we have yet passed the danger limit; while I agree that this trade so far and to this amount has even been beneficial to us and we have greatly profited because of it, yet I can see breakers ahead. If we increase this business still more it appears to me that we are likely to be led into political union with the United States. Do not alarm yourselves, gentlemen, I do not suggest that that has already taken place or is imminent, but what I mean is that it might happen. These Americans are a dangerous people. We could not hope to compete with them if they took it into their heads to crush us. The only safe course that I can see for us is to limit
our trade with them to the sum of $400,000,000 per annum. I think we can safely go this far, but I see that there is danger if we go beyond this.
We would be placing our whole fiscal policy and commercial policy at the dictation of Washington. I, therefore, move that a careful computation of all articles of trade and business done with the United States or any citizens thereof be kept from day to day and that when the amount of this business reaches the sum of $400,000, 000 for any one year that, then, and at the time the business of Canada shall have reached the said sum, all further business or transactions with the people of the United States be declared illegal and punishable by law according to the following penalties:It requires some degree of nerve to hypothesize a case of that kind, yet that principle is the actual essence of the opposition to reciprocity to-day.The only possibly consistent course for Mr. Borden to have taken in the House of Commons under such circumstances
as are suggested above would be to arise and say that so long as Canada
continued to pay a duty on what she buys or sells there could be no danger of interlocking trade or other complications. He would move in amendment, seconded by Hon. Richard Mc-Bride, "that, in order to fully protect our people from the dangers of disloyalty and the Empire from dissolution, the duty on all articles brought in from the United States be made still higher."They would call for a "thumbs up" vote and the roll would be answered only by the blindly partisan who put party before country and irrational conduct before common sense.

CANADIAN IMMIGRATION.

In the last of a series of fifteen immigration articles published in the Monetary Times on capital investments in Canada, Mr. Fred W. Field deals with the new capital from immigration.
It is a happy suggestion by Mr. Field that immigration is to be looked upon as a form of capital accruing, though his last article deals more particularly with the monetary value represented in the class, character and possessions of those who have come into Canada during the past decade.It is worth while to calmly contemplate the number, class, nativity and some other things about the vast army of people who are daily increasing the aggregate of the population which distinguishes the growing census of Canada.
While quality is an important consideration in the process of selection—and it is apparent from Mr. Field's deductions that this has ever been kept in mind by the agents employed by the government to advise and induce emigration to Canada—it is a gratifying condition when this can be coupled with substantial financial worth. These considerations seem to have been successfully met in the great portion of those who have moved into the Dominion.The period covered by the paper we review dates from July 1, 1890, to March 31, 1911—that is to say, ten years and three months. During this time the total number of souls settling in Canada from the four quarters of the earth is 1,764,475. These came from thirty-five different countries, and this fact alone is significant of the complex character of the civilizations which must be assimilated in the process of nation-building in this comparatively new country—new at least as far as rapid settlement by immigration is concerned.As the cosmopolitan population is increasing and as it is worth while for everyone interested in the development of the nation to know what nationalities
are its component parts, we reproduce
the table of immigration which Mr.
Field has tabulated:

Nationality	Total
English and Welsh	565,157
Scottish	138,969
Irish	41,061
Total British	745,187
South African	437

United States citizens (via ocean)	845
Total continental, etc.	460,708
From U. S. A. (direct)	615,700
Total Immigration	1,764,475

It will thus appear that out of the total number given above 1,304,613 are Anglo-Saxon, and of these a little more than one-half have been from the British Isles; leaving only the proportionally small number indicated as arrivals from Continental Europe and other countries. Doubtless of those coming in from the United States a very large number are repatriated Canadians or sons of British who established themselves first in the United States and later decided to remove to Canada because of political associations as well as the advantages offered in the later pioneer settlements.

HOME BUILDER LOOK AHEAD!

Look into the future. Foresight is better than hindsight. The home you are now thinking of building is for your own comfort and welfare of your family. But suppose you want to sell that home a few years hence. You may not think of doing so now, but conditions may crop up which will render it necessary for you to sell. Now reflect on this point, if the house is beautiful in appearance, artistically designed and harmonious in its proportions, strongly constructed and conveniently arranged within, you will not only be able to sell it readily, but you will be able to sell it at a substantial profit. The beauty, stability and convenience of a house depend so materially on the architect's ability that wisdom dictates the employment of a man who has made a life study of domestic architecture in this very phase.

NEED LARGER HOME FOR Y. W. C. A. WORK

Public Interest in Matters Affecting Young Women is Urged at Convention

The great and longstanding need for better accommodation for the Y. W. C. A. workers and their charges, in this city and elsewhere, was much discussed at the meeting of the special convention Tuesday afternoon.

It was pointed out that insufficient interest was taken in the association by the citizens in general. Although the movement affected women in particular it was necessary that men should take an interest in the question, as women did in the Y. M. C. A. work.

Both the Dominion secretary and the world secretary of the association were present and addressed the meeting. Tea was served afterwards by the local board in the home in Courtenay street.

In the evening the final session of the convention was held, the principal business being the reading of the budget and a report from the local board. It was stated that the present quarters of the Young Women's Christian Association in this city were far too small. Applicants were being turned away daily. Homes for young women on the same basis as those for men should be provided for them. They should be equipped with similar appliances, including gymnasiums, swimming pools, and social halls. Most people did not realize the necessity there was for such homes.

In connection with the budget it was stated that the position of every penny by every member of the association in the world would be enough to maintain all the foreign missions and work. The secretaries, Miss Little and Miss Stevenson, who have been visitors here for the week, left on yesterday afternoon boat for Vancouver, where a convention similar to the one just ended in this city will be held.

VETERANS LACK CONFIDENCE

Pass Resolution in Regard to Fenian Raid Claims.

At the regular meeting of Company 24, Imperial Veterans of Canada, held in the city hall last evening, the following resolution was adopted unanimously:

"Whereas the federal government has session after session evaded and shuffled the question of the Fenian Raid Veterans claims,

"And whereas they have absolutely refused to take the matter up for discussion in the House of Commons, thereby refusing to carry out the promise made by the prime minister, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, at a deputation made from this company during his late visit to this city.

"Therefore, be it resolved that the Imperial Veterans of No. 24 Company wish to place themselves on record that they have no confidence in the said government to deal fairly with this important question."

The regular business meeting of the W. C. T. U. is being held this afternoon at 2:30, at the Store Street Mission. A full attendance is requested, as important business will be considered.

THE CURSE OF THE NATION IS CONSTIPATION

'Fruit-a-tives' Alone Cures This Disease

A famous scientist states that Constipation, or non-action of the bowels, causes more deaths than all other diseases combined. Constipation inflames the Kidneys, ruins digestion, is the foundation of Rheumatism, poisons the blood, causes Headaches, Neuralgia, Nervousness and Insomnia.

Constipation is caused by a weak or sluggish liver. Bile, the only purgative of the body, is secreted by the liver, which in turn should pour out into the intestines sufficient bile to move the bowels. Unless the liver is active, there cannot be enough bile to move the bowels regularly, and Constipation is the result.

'Fruit-a-tives', the famous fruit medicine, will always cure Constipation because it acts directly on the liver—relieves the congestion—increases the quantity of bile—and strengthens the bowel muscles.

Polls Close at 5 P.M.

In all Dominion elections the doors of polling booths open at 9 o'clock a.m. and close at 5 p.m. All votes must be cast between these hours. In provincial and municipal elections the polling stations remain open until 7 o'clock in the evening, a fact which sometimes creates confusion in the mind of the elector. Do not forget that on September 21 the doors of the polling booths will be closed sharply on the hour of 5.

LIBERAL RALLY IN VICTORIA THEATRE

Mass Meeting on Monday Evening Will Hear Some Excellent Speeches

A mass meeting of Liberals will be held in the Victoria theatre on Monday evening next, the chair being taken at 8 o'clock.

The speakers on this occasion will be Hon. Wm. Templeman, Alexander Henderson, K.C., Vancouver, and E. T. Congdon, K.C., member for the Yukon in the late parliament. Seats will be reserved for ladies.

A general meeting of the Liberal committee was held in the central committee rooms, Commercial street, last evening, when most optimistic reports were made by the chairmen of the several districts. The wards are engaged in a friendly rivalry as to which shall give the largest majority, relatively, to Hon. Mr. Templeman, there being no doubt in the minds of anyone that the electors of every ward will do their duty to themselves and the city and province by giving a majority to B. C.'s first representative in the federal capital.

RALPH SMITH MAKES NEW RECOMMENDATION

Advices Royal Oak Electors to Ask for Electrification of V. & S. Railway

If large gatherings, rapid attention, enthusiastic appreciation of solid argument and a multitude of personal pledges of votes are any assurance of a victory at the polls, Mr. Ralph Smith will be as impossible to defeat in Nanaimo constituency as Sir Wilfrid Laurier in any he might choose. This was exemplified yesterday afternoon when an overflow meeting was held at Metehosh and again in the evening at Royal Oak.

In his argument at the latter, Mr. Smith replied to a question put by the chairman with reference to the possibility of bringing the V. & S. railway under the authority of the Dominion railway commission. Mr. Smith stated that the requisite measures necessary and held out little encouragement, as the railway is operating under a provincial charter which, for some reason or other, precludes Dominion control.

It was also a civic railway to some extent, as both Victoria city and Saanich municipality were financially interested in the charter. Mr. Smith advocated an agitation among the people interested to have the V. & S. taken over and operated by the B. C. Electric, as he thought that by that means the complaints of the poor service rendered could be obviated. He was loudly applauded for this recommendation.

Dealing with reciprocity he reaffirmed his belief in the incalculable value of the pact in its ultimate effect on Canadian prosperity. He elucidated the reasons for this belief at some length and pointed out that while the pact would immensely benefit every other province of Canada in the matter of agricultural resources, it would be paramount in British Columbia province on account of the impetus it would give to the development of natural resources.

He declared the policy of the Liberal government had produced the great prosperity of this province and showed how to the rapid settlement of the Northwest must be attributed the good times now prevalent throughout Canada but in this province particularly.

A. Grant occupied the chair and Walter W. Haer also spoke at some length in explanation of reciprocity.

KNOTTY POINT OF LICENSE LAW ARISES

What Constitutes Transfer of Saloon License With Portions of Premises Used?

A lengthy discussion took place at the session of the licence commission yesterday on the question of whether a transfer of a saloon licence can be made from one portion of the premises to another without giving the full notice required for a transfer from one set of premises to another, or if under the statute such permission of the licensing board is required at all.

Mayor Morley argued that permission might be granted for licences of hotels when through alterations a change was made, but that the same rule did not apply to saloons.

In each case when these applications came up, first in connection with the Clarence hotel and again in connection with the Carlton bar, the mayor objected to the arguments of Harold B. Robertson, who appeared for the Clarence hotel management, and those of Ald. Moresby, who appeared in support of the licence from H. W. Elkhoff to Seth E. Chamberlin covering the saloon operated as the Carlton bar.

His worship said he had an opinion from City Solicitor McDiarmid in support of his attitude, and although he was overruled in connection with the grant of the Clarence hotel transfer the other application was laid over, after permitting the formal transfer of the names for the attendance of the city solicitor to decide the legal attitude on transfers of saloon premises, where the

It appeared that the Clarence hotel had been operated with an ordinary saloon licence attached, and the mayor thereupon said the board must deal with it as an ordinary transfer from one set of premises to another, a claim which was strongly rebutted by Mr. Robertson, who declared the change in location would be under 100 feet.

The application for an extension of the temporary transfer of the licence of the St. George's Inn was ratified and extended until the next meeting of the board. A wholesale licence was granted to J. Robertson & Sons.

HUNTERS PREPARING FOR THE OPENING DAY

That Grouse Are Plentiful This Season is Opinion of Experienced Sportsmen

All signs point to tremendous exodus of hunters from this city to-night and to-morrow, when the shooting season for grouse, blue and willow, duck and deer opens on the mainland. The hunters are assured, on competent authority, of a most successful season, the supply of grouse, which is the principal game bird, being greater than was the case last season.

As is always the case great excitement prevails amongst the hunters, both those who yearly endure tramping through the damp and tangled brush, climbing mountains and crossing gulches, to have their perseverance rewarded or otherwise by eventually raising a covey of grouse, the whirl of whose wings as they rise rapidly into the open causes the pulses to tingle and furnishes the real hunter the supreme joy of his life time, and also the vast host of the embryo hunters. In the ranks of the latter, especially, is the feeling of excitement evident, for the former have long since learned to control their exultation and to restrain themselves.

Never at any time of the year were the sporting goods dealers so rushed; shells are being bought up wholesale and guns of every imaginable variety are being snapped up, whilst shooting coats, game bags, knives and other articles of a hunter's paraphernalia are the subject of enthusiastic discussion in the stores.

Naturally the first thing arising in the mind of the man or boy who is planning an outing at the first of the season is as to where he will go. Many of those who know the lay of the ground say the richest bird country is around the Summit and the Highland district; others prefer Salt Spring and still others assert that the birds are thickest in the Sooke River district. However that may be, it is certain that hunters will be found roving over every accessible part of southern Vancouver Island this week-end.

It must be borne in mind that in both North and South Saanich the season is closed for all kinds of birds until October 1, when pheasants and quail come in; and also that the use of the automatic shot-gun is barred. The fact that R. A. McCurdy has bought up 700 acres at the Summit and proposes to exclude all hunters from that district is a source of great annoyance amongst the hunting fraternity and also, it may be mentioned, a slight incredulity. Despite the fact that Mr. McCurdy has set up innumerable signs warning the gunmen to keep off and has hired a squad of special constables to patrol the place, the hunters do not see how he can expect them to avoid trespassing, seeing that he has no fences around the preserve.

The chief reason for the expected large bags this season, given by those who have long been engaged in the sport and have learnt the habits of the birds by years of experience, is that the recent rains will have driven the blue grouse away from the swamps and on to the higher and more open country.

At all events the hunter who "knows the ropes," is a good shot and, as is very necessary, has a good dog should enjoy the best of sport this season.

TOOK TWO STRAIGHT FALLS YESTERDAY

Islanders Won Both Games From Indians on Their Merits — Lake's Pitching

The Islanders celebrated their return for the last time to the home grounds by taking two straight falls out of the Indians last night's game. By so doing they lodged the other Canadian Northwestern League team, the Beavers, more firmly in the totem pole. In fact nothing but a miracle can lose the championship for Vancouver now. It is certain that Victoria will give her most dangerous contender, Spokane, a lot of trouble this and next week and as Bob Brown's aggregation is in fine working shape, there is nothing to stop it ambulating right along to the finish well in the lead.

Yesterday the Islanders played wonderful ball. Anyone who saw the games yesterday and also saw Victoria's performances of several weeks ago would be as much inclined to swear black was white as that Victoria was represented by the same team now as it has been. Yet such is the case. There has been an addition, Kennedy, from the Tacoma Tigers. Otherwise the players are the same as those whose lazy, indifferent work so disgusted the fans when last the club played at home. But what a difference now! Every man was full of "pep"; Clementson, in right, made a peg across to third base in the second inning of the first game which brought the fans up all standing. Ten Million, in centre, got under flies which a few weeks ago would have been safe hits; Kellar played a beautiful game of ball at second, trying for everything and even if he did not succeed in putting the runner out he always won a generous round of applause; in fact the team seemed charged with electricity, every man was on his toes and ready to seize the slightest opportunity for an unexpected play. For instance, when Brennan slipped in the fourth inning of the first game with Victoria's first score, he was on second, and Kellar popped a fly to Nordyke. The ball struck the first baseman's hands and dropped over his head. He grabbed and turned to throw to first, when, to and behold! Houck had not covered the sack. Consequently Kellar was safe. Nordyke got mad and started to tell Houck what he thought about him and then tossed the ball to him. Brennan, who had in the meantime got to third, was watching this little piece of by-play and as soon as Nordyke threw to Houck he dashed for home. The move was so unexpected that he scored easily.

Such is the result of a strong and determined man's influence on a team, which could but was not.

Brennan was the only man who did not field his position well yesterday and in the eighth inning of the first game he was taken out and Million put in at short. Williams taking the latter's place in centre field.

The locals won both games on their merits. They were outbatted in the first argument, but their hits were more timely. In the fourth inning of the first game "Clem" lifted the ball over the fence and chased Kellar around ahead of him. The Indians had, in the meantime, scored one, Nordyke's homer in the first of the fourth being responsible. In the sixth they added another on a pass and Nordyke's three-base drive to right. The fans thought this should have been called a foul and raised quite a rumpus, but Empire Dashwood ruled that the ball had been knocked over the line by "Clem." In the first of the seventh the visitors made a determined effort to tie the score and were successful. Netzel, who had been on the bench up to this time, was sent to the bat for Houck. He struck out, but Couch and Melchior both hit safely. The former for two bases and the score was three all. In the last of the seventh McCurdy slammed the ball over the fence and put the game away on ice.

McCurdy's pitching was sound all the way through. He tightened up beautifully in the pinches and always had control. Houck had only allowed one hit, when he was taken out and replaced by Kraft in the last of the seventh, but his poor fielding of his position was largely responsible for the defeat of the Indians. Kraft allowed three hits in two sessions.

The second game was, if anything, better than the first. Joe Cohn's bases started proceedings by annexing one tally in the opening frame on a couple of passes and a single. That was the extent of their fun with Laké, however, for he held them absolutely safe until the closing session, when after McCurdy's fumble of a low from the middle which would have retired the side if caught, they pulled out two singles and added another run.

The locals hit O'Loughlin throughout, but owing to fast fielding on the part of Spokane did not score until the fifth, when two singles followed by Clem's three-bagger brought in two. Two more were added in the sixth on three errors and one hit. Laké's pitching was the feature of this game. If McCurdy had not made that error in the ninth, the Indians could not only have credited with three hits and none of those were good for more than one sack. O'Loughlin was taken out after the seventh and Kraft again finished out the game, holding the Islanders helpless in the last two frames.

SPORT NOTES

On Monday evening next at 8 o'clock a meeting will be held in the Victoria West club rooms for the purpose of organizing the Victoria West football teams. As usual the Wests have entered the three leagues—senior, second division and junior. At the meeting managers and captains will be elected for the senior and second division teams. After the business of the evening has been transacted a social gathering will be held, when a musical programme will be rendered and refreshments served. A full attendance is requested. All Victoria West players are asked to turn out at the Macaulay Point grounds on Sunday morning for the initial practice.

At the meeting of the Victoria Lacrosse Association held last evening it was decided to hold a dance in the A. O. U. W. hall in about two weeks time. The exact date has not yet been decided on. The following committee was appointed to take charge of the arrangements: E. Christopher, E. Wilson, F. Sweeney, S. O'Neil, W. Blake, R. Johnson, E. Taylor, J. Hancock and R. Owens. At the meeting last evening the season's business as regards lacrosse was finished up.

Next Monday evening an organization meeting of the J. B. A. Rugby football club will be held in the club rooms.

The American grip on the amateur golf championship was further loosened by yesterday's play at Rye, N. Y., in the national tournament, in which Harold H. Hilton, British champion, easily won his way into the third round by defeating R. C. Watson, of West Brook, 11 and 10. Although seven good American players to-night started, he took him and the title, the betting was two to one on Hilton against the field.

Seventy-five subpoenas were issued at Chicago yesterday for witnesses to appear at the civil service commission's police investigation, which next Monday is expected to begin. Alleged gambling at the Gatch-Hackenschmidt wrestling match on Labor Day. Several police officials are charged with permitting gambling at the match.

According to a wire received yesterday at Vancouver by Andy McLean, of the Celtic soccer football team, the proposed tour of a Calgary team through Great Britain this season is assured. The wire states that the team will leave Calgary for the Old Country on the 23rd of this month. Several British Columbia players will be on the team, in addition to Melville and Dyke, of the Vancouver, who went through to Calgary earlier in the summer. Andy McLean and Arnold, of the Celtics, along with Billy McGuire, of Victoria, are wanted. All expenses are guaranteed the players, but there will be no salary. McLean and Arnold, of the Celtics, have signified their intention of going along with the team, but whether McGuire will travel is uncertain. McLean wired the Victoria player Tuesday, but no answer has been received. The Calgary team has been allotted matches with quite a number of first league teams in both England and Scotland, and the tour should be a great success.

Prince Nicholas Ghika of Roumania and Capt. E. C. Radcliffe, of the British army, arrived at Cody, Wyo., yesterday on a hunting trip after big game in the mountains south of Yellowstone Park. Prince Nicholas, who is an enthusiastic sportsman, has hunted big game in practically every part of the world.

Assistant Attorney-General Russell Jackson, in an opinion on an appeal from the Volga-McFarland proposed boxing contest, says, should the affair develop into a prize fight, the sheriff is at liberty to stop it.

Monte Attell, the former bantamweight champion, has been matched with Johnny Daley, the Jersey City bantamweight, for a ten-round go before the Orleans Athletic Club, October 2, according to an announcement made at New Orleans yesterday.

WILL ENT-PRO. FOOTBALL. This Decision Arrived at Large Gathering of Local Soccer Players Last Evening.

At a meeting held last evening it was decided that Victoria should enter professional football this year. There were a large number of footballers present. The league this year will include two teams from Vancouver and one each from Cumberland, Ladysmith, Nanaimo and Victoria.

Only preliminary matters were dealt with last night. Another meeting will be held next Wednesday, when delegates will be appointed to attend the league's annual meeting at Vancouver in about a fortnight's time, when a schedule will be drafted.

RAVAGES OF CHOLERA.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 14.—A dispatch to the Novoe Vremya from Constantinople, describing the horrors of the cholera epidemic in Macedonia, says the soldiers are crowded in locked vans when ill and left without water or medical aid. On the Mitrovitz-Anskup railroad, living and dead victims of the cholera have been thrown from car windows by their comrades.

MANY FRIENDS GAVE

AT THE POUND PARTY

Orphans' Home Pantries and Wardrobes Were Replenished Yesterday

Many were the gifts which kind friends of the little ones in the British Columbia Protestant Orphans' Home brought yesterday afternoon on the occasion of the annual pound party. This year the attendance was not so large as usual, perhaps owing to the unusual date at which it was held. The donations were, however, liberal and varied. Sacks of flour and of sugar sent by rich merchants or householders were not more thankfully received than the little parcels of fruit or sweets brought by children to the orphans.

Many of the visitors went through the beautifully clean and airy rooms and saw the children as they stood about in little groups, many of them listening to the music which Arthur Longfield was kindly playing. There are fifty children altogether in the institution, a family of three arriving yesterday, and of these fourteen are under six.

Among the visitors were Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. R. E. McBride, Miss Mary McBride and Miss McBride of New Westminster, Mrs. J. A. Macdonald, Charles Hayward, Mrs. Fraser, Mrs. Ernest Hayward, Rev. W. Baugh, Allan, Rev. T. E. Holling.

Miss Toimie, Mrs. Goodacre, Mrs. Stadhagen, Mrs. Munday, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. McTavish, Mrs. Todd, Mrs. Teague, Mrs. D. Muller, Miss McTavish, Mrs. Langley, Mrs. Teague, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Scowcroft, Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Few, Mrs. Vigellus, Mrs. Munsie, Mrs. Huckle and Mrs. Toller, members of the committee of management, served tea and refreshments from the bountifully spread tables. The committee acknowledge the following donations with grateful thanks:

NINE SPECIAL BARGAINS

Just Off Hillside Avenue

Here is a chance for the people who are pinning their faith on Hillside Avenue—and many are

These lots comprise part of Blocks 1 and 2, Plan No. 844, Sections 27 and 28, and are among the best buys in this favored district.

Some of these lots have been sold without advertising, but in order to give everyone an equal chance to "get in" on this good thing, we decided to place them on the market at the prices quoted below.

These lots are exceptionally fine from every standpoint. They are a good size, 50 x 132—some larger—and are cleared and high and dry. Every lot is a view lot and commands a splendid view of the surrounding country.

In addition to the fine, high situation of these lots, is the question of surrounding improvements. In this respect these lots are particularly favored. The fine, large school to be built in this district is but a short distance from these lots. Then there is the widening, paving and double-tracking of Hillside Avenue, which is calculated to raise surrounding prices to almost any height. These lots are only a short distance from Hillside Avenue.

Even if no such improvements were certain in this district, these lots would be good buying at the prices asked; but with their splendid high position and these sure improvements, it is easy to see the investment possibilities they contain.

Now there are only nine of these lots, and there are many people looking for just such an opportunity. It is therefore up to you to act quickly if you want one of them.

THERE ARE NINE LOTS

Five at - - $550
Three at - - $575
One at - - $600

Every one of these lots is a good one, and the prices are exceptionally low. Investigate now.

SAVE PART OF CARGO BUT SHIP TOTAL LOSS

Expected That Knight of St.
George Will Soon Be Abandoned—Held by Bow.

Latest advice received here from Tonga Island state that part of the cargo of the steamship Knight of St.
George, which struck a coral reef in that vicinity on August 21, has been saved, but that the vessel will be a total loss. Efforts were made to float the ship, but all proved futile owing to the many holes punctured in her hull
and the firm hold she has on the coral island.

A great deal of the lumber cargo which was aboard the ship was taken ashore and some of the merchandise saved. After it was found that the ship could not be saved the efforts of the crew were bent towards saving what part of the cargo they could. Some of the steamship's holds were full of water and therefore it was impossible to remove all of the lumber. The Knight of St. George cleared from Vancouver and Sound ports via San Francisco for Australia under charter to the Australian Mail line, and had nearly three million feet of timber aboard.

According to reports the St. George has her bow tightly wedged on the reef
and her after hold is full of water.
When she struck many of her stanchions were buckled and her hull was ripped in numerous places. She is now lying in an exposed position, and it is expected that she will soon be abandoned as it is impossible to save her.

HEAVY GALE OFF JAPANESE COAST

AWA MARU RUNS INTO STORM OFF JAP COAST

Reaches Here With Valuable Cargo—Record Number of Passengers Come Across

Nearly three thousand cases of Japanese lily bulbs for use in the many gardens of Victoria, a fresh supply of peanuts for the candy stores of this city, and a silk cargo amounting to half a million dollars, consigned to New York, arrived on the Nippon Yu-
sen Kaisha liner Awa Maru, Capt.
Irisawa, which docked at the outer wharf shortly after daybreak this morning from Yokohama, Hongkong and other Oriental ports. The steamship brought one of the largest cargoes
that has been carried by a Nippon boat across the Pacific from Yokohama for some time.

According to Capt. Irisawa the north Pacific is beginning to resume its wintry appearance and before long ships crossing the Pacific will be battered about by heavy storms. The Awa Maru had a fair passage across, encountering considerable fine weather, which was interspersed with occasional gales. Shortly after clearing from the Japanese coast the big steamship ran into heavy weather which lasted for two days. The wind blew from the southeast with great force and a nasty sea was stirred up. When nearing the coast of this island the Maru experienced dense fogs and was delayed a few hours in reaching this port. Late last evening she crept up the straits through a heavy mist and reached the William Head quarantine station about 11 o'clock, awaiting there until this morning before coming up to the docks.
One hundred and ninety-two passengers were brought from the Orient by the Maru, which is one of the largest liners she has ever had. Every stateroom aboard the ship was used and her steerage space was also well filled.
Among the cabin passengers aboard
the ship were the following: H. Tilly,
Mr. and Mrs. T. B. North, G. O. Otto,
A. Earle, H. A. Little, Prof. John C.
Ballagh, of one of the Japanese universities; Consul Leonard Bourneau, who for several years has been the British vice-consul at Tokyo; Lieut.
M. Yabu, a Japanese naval officer who is on his way to Washington; B. B. A.
Howard, H. L. Brown, a merchant
in Japan; E. S. Sheldon, a school teacher of Cambridge, Mass., who in company with Mrs. Sheldon and his daughter is making a trip around the world; L. D. Miller, an electrical engineer, who has been in the Orient for some time, and Mrs. and Miss O'Shea.
As steamer the Maru had for Victoria
twenty-two Japanese and 162 Chinese.

The local cargo consisted of 350 tons and included the following: Lily bulbs, 2,883 cases; beans, 466 bags;
tea, 1,121 chests; soybean, 539 cases;
peanuts, 200 sacks; rice, 1,290 bags;
sugar, 450 bags; bran, 1,727 bags;
Chinese spirits, 341 cases; onions, 207
sacks; salted provisions, 65 cases; 807 25 cases; silk goods, 3 bales, and general merchandise, 1,324 packages.

For Seattle the steamship has a monstrous consignment of sea animals to 17,000 chests. She also has several other large shipments of beans, sugar,
and rice.

The Harpatic sailed from Newport
News on July 1 with a cargo of coal.
The vessel will load a cargo of wheat for Korea, Gifford & Co., for the United Kingdom.

SPEAKS PANAMA MARU 1,800 FROM ESTEVAN

Osaka Steamship Will Dock
Here Tuesday Afternoon—
Henley Sailing Soon

Shipping men of this port are certainly informed far enough ahead as to the time of travel of all trans-pacific steamships. The west coast wireless stations now keep in touch with all the liners when within two thousand miles of the shores of Vancouver Island and the agents of the lines here can figure out to the dot just what time their ships will be here.

Of late the powerful station at Estevan has been speaking at long distances and last night she picked up the Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner Panama Maru 1,800 miles at sea. The steamship is scheduled to arrive here on Wednesday next but no doubt she will be at the Outer Wharf on Tuesday afternoon, providing she does not encounter any dirty weather. The operator at Estevan at 2:30 o'clock this morning was in communication with the ship and her skipper reported his position at 11 p. m. as being lat.
50.01 north, and long. 166.23 west,
1,800 miles from the west coast point.

The Maru got away from Yokohama
on Sept. 5 and is making a fast trip across the Pacific. She is bringing about three thousand tons of freight,
including the usual Oriental products,
and a large number of Chinese as steerage. Her silk shipment amounts to nearly 1,000 bales valued at three-quarters of a million dollars.

It is expected that the Canadian-Mexican liner Henley, Capt. Masters, will leave the Outer Docks to-morrow afternoon for Salina Cruz. She has loaded about two thousand tons of freight at Vancouver and some coal at Boat Harbor. The Lonsdale, of the same line, will be here about the end of the month from Mexican ports.

About the end of next week the M. S. Empress of India, Capt. Beetham, will arrive from Yokohama, having left there on Tuesday of this week. She has a big cargo of freight and a full list of passengers.

FLYING DISTRESS SIGNAL

Master of Schooner, However, Did Not Slacken Speed When Steamer Was Sighted.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 14.—Captain W.
E. Pope, master of the British steamship Harpatic, who was a visitor at the Seattle Merchants' Exchange yesterday, reported a peculiar experience recently. The vessel was about 200 miles from Cape Flattery, bound for Puget Sound. The vessel sighted a schooner lumber-laden, flying a signal requesting the master of the collier to come aboard. The schooner had all of her sails set and was making good speed
for a vessel of her class, and Captain Pope was at a loss to know why he was wanted aboard. He could see no signs of distress and decided to continue on his course.

The signal which the schooner displayed is only raised in case of sickness or accident, but as the vessel did not slacken her speed Captain Pope did not attempt to go near her. He went to the Merchants' Exchange to inquire if any other vessels had reported the schooner.

SALMON SHIPS RETURN

On Way to Seattle From Alaskan Waters—Race Between Two Sailers.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 14.—Bringing big cargoes of salmon from the canneries
along the Alaskan coast, the ships St.
Paul and Benjamen Packard are making their way to Seattle.
The St. Paul left Ketchikan September
2, and passed Cape Elizabeth last Thursday bound for Elliott Bay. She is expected in port September 22. The Packard sailed from Chignik September 3, and the large sailing vessels are engaged in an interesting speed contest. They are about equally matched and the race is being watched with interest by shipping men.

The barque Guy C. Goes brought a shipment of approximately 32,000 cases, and the St. Paul and the Packard are expected to bring a cargo equally as big.

There is only one vessel of the Puget Sound codfishery fleet now at sea and the season's catch is practically completed. The schooner Alice, the last one of the fleet to arrive home, passed the Capes Monday night.

The only vessel not yet heard from
is the schooner Vega, which is expected to pass the Capes any day this week.

NOTICE TO MARINERS

Information has been received by the agency of marine at this port from the cable engineer of the U. S.
cable steamer Burnside that while repairing a submarine cable a black cable buoy will be left on the cable end in the following position: William Head light, quarantine station, bearing
W. by S. 1/4 S. (mag.), distant 8. of a mile. This buoy will probably be left in the above position for two or three days and must not be mistaken for a buoy adrift. Mariners will govern themselves accordingly.

BIG PROPERTY DEAL

Montreal, Sept. 14.—J. C. McGreevy, of the High School property, lying between Peel and Metcal streets, just north of St.
Catharines, for $1,300,000. Mr. McGreevy does not say what use would be made of the property. There have been many rumors to the effect that this property would be the site of the station which the Canadian Northern Railway would build in this city.

MADE WELL AND STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto.—I gladly give you my testimonial in favor of your wonderful medicines. Last October I wrote to you for advice as I was completely run down, had bearing down sensation in the lower part of bowels, backache,
and pain in the side. I also suffered terribly from gas.
After receiving your directions, I followed them
closely and am now entirely free from pain in back and bowels, and am stronger in every way.

I also took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my baby was born, and I recommend it highly to all pregnant women.—Mrs. E.
WANDRY, 92 Logan Ave., Toronto, Ont.

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

Maple Creek, Sask.—I have used
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I am now in perfect health. I was troubled with pains every month. I know other women who suffer as I did and I will gladly recommend your medicine to them. You may publish this if you think it will help others.—Mrs. F. E.
Cook, Maple Creek, Sask.

If you belong to the countless army
of women who suffer from some form of female ills, don't hesitate to try

PREPARING FOR M'NAMARA TRIAL

HEARING OF CASE WILL BEGIN ON OCTOBER 1

Los Angeles Judge Denies Rumors That There Will Be Any Postponement

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 4.—Judge
Walter Hordwell announced yesterday
that the trial of John J. and James B.
McNamara, alleged dynamite conspirators, would begin on October 1.
There has been considerable rumor late that there might be a postponement for a week because of the Presidential Fair, but the judge said nothing of the kind. He said that nothing was known at present that will interfere with the beginning of the trial as scheduled.

The question of securing a court room large enough to accommodate a mass of lawyers, newspapermen, law
students and witnesses, to say nothing of the general public, is one that has been causing much anxiety to those in authority. A conference was held at the office of the district attorney and a suggestion made that the new Hall of Records be used. On the seventh floor of the building there is a room of considerable size that could be utilized as a court house, while another is convenient in which the prisoners could be kept during the trial. If any other building is used it would necessitate the taking of the prisoners through the streets several times a day, and this is a contingency which the detectives desire to avoid. Another conference is to be held on the subject and a definite conclusion may be reached within a day or two.

When King Canute hurled his "Ipse Dixit" at the rolling waves--"Thus Far and No Farther," it didn't for a minute stay the onward rush of Old Ocean

Neither can pessimism nor opposition stem the tide of progress and development that we are now enjoying—it is too big a thing.

Victoria is "getting there" faster than the keenest optimist ever dreamed of.

When we consider the location of this city, backed by the potential resources of the Island, how would it be possible for Victoria to continue in the state of lethargy which was hers a few years ago?

The period of awakening came and then followed a growth that has reached a point now that will permit of no further hindrance

LOOK BACK

Over the steps of civic development during the past two or three years.

Of course there was opposition. What was the use of cement sidewalks? Who wanted electric lighting? Why pave the streets? Why disturb things by widening or straightening a narrow, crooked thoroughfare? In fact, what was the use of anything? Yes, there has been plenty of pessimistic opposition, but PROGRESS has triumphed, and we are all enjoying the result.

Now Let Us Look Ahead a Little

Our population is increasing rapidly; inside property is becoming too valuable for the average man to use for a home and "bit of garden."

He must go further out.

In a very few years DOUGLAS STREET will be a magnificent, wide thoroughfare opened straight out to the Royal Oak. It is coming sure—similar conditions are in evidence in other cities, why not here? We are well in front with natural advantages; why shouldn't the rest follow? When this happens, do you think a quarter of an acre 2½ miles from the City Hall will be selling for five, six or seven hundred dollars?

NOW

Two years from now such property will be selling readily for easily twice that amount.

Here Is Your Opportunity

To profit by what is surely and certainly going to happen. Get busy right away and tie up a piece at

LAKE HILL PARK

Douglas street extended passes through the centre of this tract. It is only 2½ miles from the City Hall.

There are Some of these Quarter Acres Going at $400 Each, Quarter Cash, balance extended over four years

Before you have paid for your purchase you will see these developments of which we speak.

Then you can sell and take your profit.

We have issued a concise little booklet describing this property and will be pleased to give you one or mail it to you if you cannot call for it.

VICEROY ORDERED TO WIPE OUT REBELS

Chinese Government Will Take Drastic Measures to Suppress Uprising

Peking, Sept. 14.—An imperial edict issued yesterday says the ringleaders in the disorders in Sz Chuan province intend to proclaim independence. As a consequence the Chinese government has ordered the viceroy to destroy the rebels to the last man. The viceroy's attention has been called to the fact that many of those taking part in the disturbance are misguided and the government instructed him to distinguish between them and the actual rebels in imposing punishment.

If the rebellion is not promptly suppressed it is likely to spread to other provinces, where there has been much discontent of late. Some of the newspapers are urging the people to join in the rising, but the merchants, who were fearful that if the rebels are successful it might be the beginning of a general conflagration.

The Japanese legation has received a dispatch indicating that Chinese troops are among the rebels who are besieging Cheng Tu. No reports have reached here, however, as to the extent of the affected area. The Yangtze region of the province has not yet risen, although it is ready to participate if the movement seems to be successful.

Latest advices received by the Chinese foreign board and the foreign legations indicate that Cheng Tu is under siege, that most, if not all the missionaries are inside the walls, and that the city is garrisoned by 1,800 troops, which have had several engagements with the besieging forces.

A dispatch from the prefect of Tsu Chai, dated September 12, says that the troops were firing upon the rebels from the Cheng Tu walls, and that the besiegers had lost many men. The belief is held here that the garrison is capable of resisting the attacks of any number of organized rebels from the outside. Tsu Chai is 75 miles from Cheng Tu.

The Canadian Methodist compound

are just the right medicine for the children. When they are constipated—when their kidneys are out of order—when over-indulgence in some favorite food gives them indigestion—Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills will quickly and surely put them right. Purely vegetable, they neither sicken, weaken or gripe, like harsh purgatives. Guard your children's health by always keeping a box of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills in the house. They will keep the children well.

within the city has opened spaces around its own walls. It is believed that the foreigners have taken refuge within this compound, which is considered the strongest and the most easily defended. Whether the foreigners and natives inside the walls are prepared to endure a siege is not known. The question of supplies is all-important, and it is probable, from past experiences, that the missionaries have taken precautions against such a contingency. The missionaries, however, have no weapons unless they have been supplied by the viceroy.

The southern section of Sz Chuan continues tranquil, although the natives sympathize with the opponents of railway construction. All gatherings in Peking in sympathy with the revolutionary movement in Sz Chuan have been dispersed by the police.

Siege of Cheng Tu. Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—A telegram received from the British consul at Cheng Tu dated September 9 and brought through the besieging rable by a messenger, states that the viceroy deemed the departure of the missionaries from Cheng Tu as inadvisable and therefore detained several boatsloads which were ready to start.

The garrison numbers 1,800. Reinforcements cannot arrive inside of four weeks. All of the foreigners, it is believed, occupy the Canadian mission compound, which is considered the most easily defended.

From Chung Kiang. Toronto, Sept. 14.—The following message was received at the Methodist Mission house yesterday from Chung Kiang: "Everything decidedly more hopeful."

CONVENTION OF FIRE CHIEFS.

Vancouver, Sept. 14.—Chief Carlisle delivered a very interesting address before the Fire Chiefs' Convention on the subject of automobile apparatus, with especial regard to the drivers.

"Fire Prevention and the Fire Chief" was the title of another paper, which was written by the secretary, Mr. Bringham. He pleaded for more public attention to the fire service, and greater respect for the office of fire chief.

Deputy-Fire Marshal H. C. Chandler, of Tacoma, read a paper on "The Moving Picture Show," as viewed from the point of view of the fire chief, in which he discussed the construction of the booths, the emergency provisions which should be made, the matter of wiring, the proper care of the films, and practically every consideration which should be considered in connection with such shows. All the chiefs were strongly in favor of the strongest possible regulations, and their strict enforcement.

How to prevent fires and explosions through the escape of illuminating gas was another subject discussed by Chief Haley, of San Jose, Cal., who advocated the placing of the service pipes, so that the gas supply could be cut off if necessary.

HUNTERS MISTAKEN FOR DEER IN WOODS

Two Men Report Being Shot at Nine Times While on Hunting Trip

Port Townsend, Wash., Sept. 14.—Frank Smith, a local business man, and Frank Sanback, a fireman, who have just returned from a hunting trip in the Olympic mountains, report that they were mistaken for deer and shot at nine times.

They say they were on a side hill near Irene mountain when a party of three on the other side of the valley opened fire on them. The mountain air was remarkably clear and caused an object to appear much closer than it really was, and to this they attribute the fact that they escaped injury, as the shots fell short.

After the first shot Smith and Sanback, who carried a pair of marine glasses, brought them to bear on the hunters and could plainly see them directing their aim at them. Fearing a shot might reach them, they sought shelter.

The report that the mountains are full of hunters and that shots can be heard at all hours.

Sousa and His Band.

It seldom falls to the lot of any musician, no matter how gifted, to impress his individuality upon his time and to command success and popularity through the sheer force of his genius. Such a man assuredly is John Philip Sousa, the conductor and composer, for where in the entire broad domain of music is there to be found such another dominating personality?

Sousa's voice, as no other American composer has ever done, the strength, dash and buoyancy of the American spirit. A man of wide musical knowledge, discriminating judgment and education for the field he has chosen, Sousa and his band will be heard here at the Victoria theatre on Wednesday, Sept. 20.

Coronation in Color. Moving pictures of the King's coronation in central colors will be seen for the first time in the Victoria theatre on the following dates: Sept. 22, 23, 26, 27, 29 and 30.

From twenty different points did special cameras set up by the Kinemacolor operators, the official picture machine photographers for the coronation, take the views. Every phase of the greatest pageant since the day of the Feast of the Cloth of Gold was secured to be used for all time. Artists may win fame with oil paintings of the features of the coronation, but it remained for the Kinemacolor to obtain a record in the exact colors of the event a series of such historic pictures as were never before seen. Future generations may thus see what happened when King George and Queen Mary were crowned, with every flash of jewel, each touch of color, glint of sun or bared bayonet, or shimmering breast-plate, cheering multitude and prancing horses.

Is no exaggeration to say that those who enjoy the comfort of a seat in the theatre here and see the projected pictures of the Kinemacolor exhibition will have a far more complete view of the great procession and other features of the coronation than could have been possible to those who stood for eight hours in one place to get what they could of a sight obstructed by cordons of police and soldiers six lines deep in places.

Every prominent feature of the coronation—the arrival of the Canadian contingent, proceeding to Westminster Abbey, their majesties crowned, illuminations of the Bank of England and the Royal Exchange, etc.; his Majesty receiving the city sword, and the naval review at Spithead—all these are brought before the gaze of the spectators. The films shown at each exhibition are fifteen thousand feet in length and will furnish a full two-hour entertainment.

RECIPROCITY REFLECTIONS

Canada for the Canadians. This means all the people. Not a few tariff privileged individuals and their hirelings who hanker for office.

Food which does not cost so much does not take so much money to pay for it. This is why the wage earner is going to be able to live better under reciprocity. With increasing wages and lower cost of living, it is not surprising that the wage earner is for reciprocity.

The man who is afraid to do business with Uncle Sam would be a poor man to have in charge of our affairs, considering that half of our trade is with the United States.

As half of our trade is with the United States, it follows that a great deal of the prosperity which we have been enjoying has been consequent upon that trade. What are you going to do with the man who says we must have nothing to do with the United States even in the most casual way? The little boy says "he's crazy." The little boy is right.

Borden couldn't form a government without Bourassa. Bourassa wouldn't allow a navy. Old John Bull does business with the whole world, and Jack Canuck is a chip off the old block.

The Little Englanders are subjugated in England, and so will be the Little Canadians in Canada.

Laurier and reciprocity, a united Canada and a greater Empire; Borden and Bourassa, strife and disintegration.

A vote for Templeman is a vote for reciprocity and a big boost for Victoria. Boast, Bombast, Bullion, Bowser, Barnard, Bourassa, Borden and Boob.

To the Editor.—At the "crack of doom," if you please, the Colonist Mr. Templeman, who forged that telegram. But at the present crisis he is too much occupied trying to save his worldly skin, and keeping an eye on the Times. If the Colonist had sufficient courage to tell Mr. Templeman "who forged that telegram," the complications would be ruinous to that paper. The man who forged it, or said at the confidential he had forged it, would kick in self-defence and give away the whole show by stating who the culprits were, involving the Colonist to a moral certainty. Then surely the fat would be in the fire and start a blaze in the Colonist's office that would require more than the ingenuity of Chief Davies and the "friendship" of the Attorney-General to cope with, and save some one from "doing hard."

As there are none so blind as those who won't see, it would be unreasonable to expect the Colonist to take notice of this letter, especially as he has never been in the habit of replying to unpleasant questions that do not admit of a facetious reply. So I will put my questions to the Times, or even to the Colonist's little friend, the Week. Supposing, for the sake of argument, Mr. Templeman, instead of asking the contemptuously silent Colonist "who forged that telegram," changed it to "who murdered John Brown" (if such was the crime), by which Mr. Barnard secured a majority at the last election, would that question have a legitimate bearing on the issue of the present election? And would not Mr. Templeman be fully justified in looking for some statement about the murder of John Brown before he submitted to be catechized by confederate "suspects"? So long as Barnard and his Conservative organ are contented to rest under the suspicion of winking at a crime for which a man would have been hanged some years ago, they will get no support from me.

A CONSERVATIVE FAIR PLAY.

To the Editor.—The game should be played fairly. If reciprocity is the issue, then let the arguments for and against it economically be presented. If party success is the issue, let the case be rightly stated. For 15 years the Conservatives said by their tariff law, "Reciprocity is a good thing"; and the Liberals never disputed it. Victoria representatives—Amor de Cosmos, Noah Shakespeare, E. Crow Baker, Colonel Prior and the late Thos. Earle—supported it, and their opponents never denied it. Both parties for 15 years before these representatives of British Columbia sat in parliament agreed that reciprocity was good, and worked for it. Sir John A. Macdonald dissolved one parliament in order to obtain it. George E. Foster, Sir Charles Tupper and his gifted son, Sir C. Herbert Tupper, wanted it, and now when it is possible to obtain it they are ready to sacrifice the national well-being upon the altar of party. If Sir John A. Macdonald could return again to earth without knowing the second of last year's would he not advocate the measure?

Would he not say: Citizens of Canada, this is the measure for which I asked your approval, to which I devoted my best abilities, for which I craved the powers of Washington. As you love me, support the bill.

The Conservatives know that their goal against the measure is stimulated. Their mock heroes are not the frothing of irresponsible partisanship. They do not believe what they say about it. They want to enjoy the sweets of office, and their only chance to get there is by raising a false cry of disloyalty. As well as the Liberals know they know that the pact will benefit the people of Canada. They know that the people of British Columbia will largely benefit by it; that to a man the value of it is all on the side of this province. They know that the Conservative press and the Conservative party were all in favor of it when it was first announced, and that only after a caucus, wherein the protected interests of Eastern manufacturers were greatly in evidence, that it was determined to obstruct the bill and force an election.

Why not play the game fairly and admit that it is politics first, and all time? Why play the hypocrite and enact a farce?

Had the Conservatives been in power when President Taft made the offer, they would have hailed it with delight, and heralded the proposal as "Conservative traditional policy."

What rank absurdity to nickname their opposition to-day and call it patriotism? That! It makes honest, thinking men sick. Play the game fairly.

J. H. BROWNING.

DIAMOND CUT DIAMOND.

How Detective Burns Outwitted Sleuths Out For His Arrest.

How William J. Burns eluded other detectives assigned to arrest him on a charge of kidnapping is related in McClure's Magazine in an interview with Mr. Burns on the recent arrest of several alleged trade unionist dynamiters. Burns was accused of spiriting away of his prisoners from Indianapolis to Los Angeles without due process of law, and a warrant was issued for his arrest on a charge of abduction.

As soon as he heard of the warrant Burns returned to Indianapolis, knowing the county detectives would be ready to arrest him. Instead of slipping into town secretly he arrived by train, went through the streets to the principal hotel, and registered under his own name, requesting the clerk not to tell anybody his room number. He was receiving his assistants and friends in his room several hours before the local detectives could convince themselves that the name on the register was not a clumsy trick to make them ridiculous.

Reporters in the hotel corridor, who had learned the joke, rushed laughing upstairs and told the detectives what had been done, and explained that the room entered by the humped man with the lame leg was Burns' apartment. The detectives banged at the door and demanded admittance. Inside was Burns with one of his assistants. Along one side of the room were three doors. One led into a clothes-closet, and Burns allowed it to remain unlocked. Another led into a second room, and the third was the bathroom door. Burns locked the second door, and then signalling to his assistant to admit the detectives, he went into the bathroom, locking the door after him.

The detectives rushed in, but they could learn nothing from Burns' assistants. The clothes closet they examined, and then, finding the two other doors locked, they concluded both led into the room beyond. They rushed in in pursuit of Burns, who they imagined had got into the other room. They continued searching for him, while Burns left the bathroom, finished his business at his desk, and then quietly left the hotel while the detectives were hunting high and low. He made his way to the courthouse and surrendered himself, being released at once on bail.

The incident is cited in the article as showing how a first-class detective depends on simple expedients and on "out-guessing" the other man.

VALUE OF ADVERTISEMENT.

(London Leader.)

Quite a few years ago only a comparatively few staple articles were advertised. Then, with the advent of the popular Press came the advertisement to appeal to the vast public that was brought within his reach at last. The newspaper proprietors found that they could afford to sell their papers even at a loss because of the large revenues secured by their advertisements. They found this also, that the better results the advertiser got, the more he advertised with them, and so they made it their business to secure the advertisements of the firms offering the best goods. They discovered that their readers trusted their advertisements just as they trusted their news, and they made a point of seeing that advertisements of doubtful articles should be excluded from their columns. Now and again an advertiser gives poor value, or making some doubtful or cheap penny offer, secures space, but swift retribution inevitably overtakes him. If he is offering poor value merely he may sell his goods once, but he will not get his repeat orders, and he speedily loses his money. If his advertisement is so misleading that it causes complaint, he can never hope to secure space in the same respectable newspaper again. When an advertisement appears regularly in a newspaper month after month and year after year it is the clearest possible proof that the advertiser is extending his list of customers and that he is giving complete satisfaction. Thus, the buyer of advertised goods gets a minimum of risk.

HIGH COST OF LIVING.

Jona, Germany, Sept. 14.—It was announced at yesterday's session of the Socialist democratic congress that the Socialist members of the Reichstag would interview the government regarding Morocco, and the high price of necessities of life. A resolution was adopted, according to which the Reichstag must insist on the immediate calling together of the representatives of the people when international complications like those with France over Morocco arise.

In Iceland men and women are in every respect political equals. The nation, which numbers about 70,000 people, is governed by representatives elected by men and women together.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By Ruth Cameron

Truly, I don't know whether to dislike them or laugh at them or be sorry for them the most.

Who?

Why the people with such an impervious armor of self interest that anything irrelevant to themselves seldom penetrates to their minds.

Of course you've not these persons with whom all conversational roads lead
promptly, not to Rome, but to home.

Which have you done, then?

Most likely you have taken a fourth alternative (that is quite correct, my grammatical critics. I just looked it up) and have simply avoided them.

I met an unusually virulent member of this species the other day. She is a person whom I know but slightly so I opened up several good leads for general conversation. Each time she promptly diverted the channel of conversation. Each time she promptly diverted the channel of conversation toward herself and her family and attempted to impress me with their position and importance.

Now, perhaps, you are thinking of Bishop Selwyn's definition of a bore as "a person who will persist in talking about himself when you want to talk about yourself."

If you are going to quote that against me I insist I have a right to plead not guilty. Truly all I desired was to find some general ground on which we could meet and share and share alike
in the conversation, and that she would not let me do.

So, as soon as I well could, I fled.
Just as we all do.

That's what I meant by being sorry
for these people.

By their conversational selfishness
they not only deprive themselves of the vast pleasure that comes from taking an intelligent interest in other's lives but they drive all who can escape away from them.

One of the primal instincts of the human mind is a love of fair play.
And just as the boy who does not play fair is ostracized by the "gang" so the man or woman who won't play fair conversationally is avoided and disliked by the crowd-un-gang.

No more learned and instructive
conversationalist than Macaulay ever lived and yet he was carefully avoided
by many men one would have expected to delight in him.

Why?

Well, let Charles Sumner explain. In writing to a friend of an interview with Macaulay he says that the latter is "truly oppressive; if you speak he does not respond to what you say but while your last words are yet on your lips takes up again his wondrous tale."

I will admit that Bishop Selwyn's
definition is true—in a certain way.
We do dislike a man who persists in talking of himself all the time because we do want to be talking of ourselves.
That we should wish to be a part of human nature. But since we are in the habit of controlling that desire and listening to others some of the time
we think we have a right to expect a like self restraint and forbearance
from others and are justly offended with those from whom we do not receive it.

Macaulay thought he could talk all the time because he knew so much that he must always be interesting.
But no one is clever enough, no one knows enough, no one has a sufficiency interesting life to entitle him to monopolize the conversation.

And he who thinks he is entitled to do so will doubtless, like Cowper's cat.

"Learn in school of tribulation."
The folly of his expectation.

Unless, perchance, this hint may help him to learn before he enters that unpleasant school.

requiring it, and providing the requisite interchange amongst the railway and transportation companies.

This distance from the outside point of the breakwater to the outside point of the present outer wharf would be about a thousand yards. The two piers suggested on the map, in addition to the breakwater, would provide about 7,250 feet of quiet berthage, exclusive of the ends of the piers, roughly speaking about three times the present accommodation at the outer wharf. These docks would not only be well protected from rough water, but would be easy of approach in all weathers, from any direction, and at any state of the tide, with deep water all round them, and require no dredging to maintain their floatage. They could be developed by degrees, as trade demanded, so as to make no undue strain upon capital.

In considering the absolutely necessary improvements of the harbor, the northwest passage is essential to segregate the outgoing from the incoming traffic, a boom of logs, for instance, from a fast passenger steamer. Also the widening of the channel at Laurel point should be kept in mind. The extreme point is the property of the government, and it should be possible to secure some feasible arrangement between the two governments by which the whole of this portion could be removed to deep water. This is one of the constant drawbacks to the harbor, which should be removed as soon as possible.

HIGH SCHOOL PLANS TO BE CONSIDERED

Building Committee of Trustees Will Meet Monday to Call for Tenders

A determined committee of three, representing the residents of Oaklands and headed by Messrs. Manton, waited on the School Board last night. Their business was to inform the board that some mistake had been made in the selection of a school site in their neighborhood. The by-law recently passed, called for the erection of a school in Oaklands, and section 48, Block 2, said the school was never in that district.

A shiver of anxiety passed over the board for a moment, but all was set right by reference to the map, on which the site was plainly marked in block 48, section 48. The deputations accepted the explanation given, commending the site chosen by the board.

"I wish we could get out of all our troubles as easily as that," said one trustee with a sigh of relief.

A communication from S. J. Willis, principal of the High school, asking for assistance from the board in obtaining fifty Ross rifles for the Cadet Corps, was referred to the financial committee.

Several reports on the works being carried on by the board were received, all indicating satisfactory progress.

A letter from the Political Equality League recommending the appointment of a woman health inspector in the city schools was laid on the table. It being decided that no funds were available for this purpose at present.

It was decided to allow C. E. Watkins, the architect, a sum of $2,000 for the plans of the High School, which have been completed. The chairman of the buildings and grounds committee announced that a meeting of his committee would be held on Monday night to consider the plans and authorize the architect to call for tenders.

At this meeting also the tenders for a site on Burnside road will be inspected. Several tenders were received and opened last evening. The secretary was instructed to change the advertisement calling for a Burnside road site to make it read "in the neighborhood of Washington avenue," as the offers received were thought to be too close in.

The superintendent of education wrote in reference to the matter of school for principals, which was brought to the notice of the board early this summer, stating that he did not favor the plan. It had been tried in Vancouver and given up.

A communication from Margaret, teacher of the High school, was received and filed, and one from D. J. Thomas of the Central school teaching staff was referred to the management committee for report. A. Dodson, was appointed to the annual training staff at a salary of $80 per month.

Accounts amounting to $2,740, were presented by the finance committee and ordered paid.

A communication from Principal Campbell of the North Ward school, calling the attention of the board to overcrowded condition there, was discussed. It was decided that the building and grounds committee on Monday.

THREE TO ONE ON LIBERALS

The following dispatch is from an independent source. Read it and compare its forecast on September 22 with that which appears in the Colonist this morning, from the headquarters of "the interests" in Montreal.

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 14.—The campaign is progressing with increased intensity as election day draws close. The two leaders, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and R. L. Borden, have gone to their home constituencies in Quebec and Nova Scotia respectively, but their lieutenants have taken up the work in Ontario.

Nominations for the House of Commons will be made in all the constituencies throughout Canada to-day.

Odds in favor of the re-election of Laurier have lengthened, and even money is now offered that the Liberals will have a majority of thirty in the general result throughout the Dominion, while three to one is freely offered, with few takers, that the government will be returned.

CONSERVATIVES
IN SCHOOL HOUSESPRING RIDGE ELECTORS
HEAR CANDIDATEHigh School Teacher Speaks
Against Reciprocity—Suggests Reserve Question

There was a fair attendance at the Conservative meeting of Ward 2 electors held last evening at the fine hall at the George Jay school, Spring Ridge, the speakers being the candidate, G. H. Barnard, F. Andrews and H. C. Hamilton. J. L. Beckwith presided, and the usual political mottoes and flags decorated the walls. Mr. Andrews is a member of the High school staff, and mainly spoke on reciprocity as it appears to one who had recently returned from the east. Mr. Barnard never referred once to Mr. Templeman's pertinent questions to him.

J. L. Beckwith, in introducing the speakers, congratulated the audience on meeting in such an excellent hall, and remarked that was probably the first political meeting held in that school. He believed the present issue went into all previous party affiliations. He considered they owed a debt of gratitude to the opposition for forcing a dissolution on reciprocity, for the education of the electorate. He cited the Times' claim that the success of the Conservatives meant the triumph of the protectionists, or as they termed it, "the interests." The United States was always out to do the best for itself, and they knew by experience how the Americans had made the best of the deal every time. They must remain as they were, and he hoped every one in that hall would vote against reciprocity on September 21.

F. Andrews, who introduced himself as for eight years a ratepayer of Ward 2, said he was going to confine himself to reciprocity from an independent standpoint. He would take up the challenge of a correspondent in the Times of Monday, who wrote as follows: "Of Monday, Messrs. McCreger, McBride and McCreger, who were the only ones in the world's history where a commercial agreement for the extension of trade facilities resulted in annexation." In 1876 the United States made a reciprocity treaty with the Hawaiian Islands with regard to sugar, and in twenty-two years the Stars and Stripes were flowing in Honolulu. The same thing happened with the treaty of 1891 between the United States and Spain with regard to Puerto Rico, and it was only seven years later when the American flag was flying in that island. He was not going to argue that the adoption of reciprocity would produce the same results in Canada, though his personal experience from travelling in the United States was that the Americans universally looked forward to that ultimate destiny. He wanted to know why Sir Wilfrid Laurier could make such a right about face as to endorse a trade agreement when he had stated in the House of Commons, when the new transcontinental railway was legalized, that the day had gone by for reciprocity.

The speaker argued that the western farmers ought to make some return for the money invested in the Northwest by the eastern provinces, and their market, which had become of some value, should be reserved for eastern manufacturers, and the products of British Columbia. While the people of the older provinces still were in a majority, they should have some control of Canada and of the market they provided for its manufactures. The poor farmers went to R. L. Borden's protection, and the products of British Columbia, and the products of the older provinces still were in a majority, they were in such desperate circumstances. (Laughter.) He claimed it was illegal for the Dominion government to advocate free trade in agricultural products, and not to extend the principle to manufactures, which should logically be equally effected. He concluded by asking why did Canada want reciprocity? Canada was not a free country to-day. (Applause.)

H. C. Hamilton had a much thinner audience when he rose, owing to the late hour at which the meeting had begun. He devoted his attention to the Songhees reserve question, and asked them to bear in mind that Sir Wilfrid's government had not been sincere in its treatment of the problem. They used an unfair method of dealing with the matter when they had the power to do so. The Dominion government were trustees of the reserve, being Indian lands. As soon as the Indians were removed from the reserve, the provincial government, and the Dominion government had unfairly compelled the provincial authorities to relinquish their reversionary interest in the new reserve before the Indians could be moved there, even when provincial money was used to buy them out. It was the sample of the treatment of British Columbia by the government in recent years.

The candidate, G. H. Barnard, who spoke at a late hour, declared that Hon. Mr. Templeman had been insincere in his declarations over the Songhees reserve. How did his work compare with that of Premier McBride? "Conquer the power," he said. "Mr. Templeman had as a minister of the crown with an annual revenue of $125,000,000 behind it to spend, and yet they would not trust him to make the expenditure, and trust to be recouped by the re-sales. The premier, whose local government had an expenditure of $7,000,000, had sufficient faith in Victoria to pay the Indians a good price, and trust to get enough money by the re-sale to repay the government. Who deserves credit and who deserves censure?" he asked. "If Mr. Templeman had taken the matter into consideration as he now claims, the Indians would have been settled long ago."

Turning to the alien labor prosecution Mr. Barnard said there had been issued instructions to immigration officers permitting them to allow free entrance into Canada of workmen from the United States who had specific employment to go to. How could the alien laborer show he had employment unless he received it at an agency in the United States, as had been shown in the recent prosecution. "Is it common sense," he asked, "for the minister to say that when the immigration regulations are relaxed it was not intended to affect the alien labor law?"

Mr. Templeman stated that the G. T. P., C. P. R. and C. N. R. went to the government and represented that they were short of labor to build their lines and on the strength of this Mr. Oliver, minister of the interior, had relaxed the immigration laws to let the laborers come in. Was anyone to think that the railroads would not then send agents into the United States to engage laborers? Mr. Templeman had neither been fair nor honest to the laboring men of Victoria. The matter had been discussed at a meeting of the Trades and Labor Council and a resolution passed which had been forwarded to Mr. Templeman. He answered that he was endeavoring to have it amended, and then continued that he did not know about it. If Mr. Templeman did not know about the relaxation of the immigration laws, what position did he occupy in the Laurier government? Would he tell them he did not know the C. N. R. was building here, the Kootenay River Valley railway was building, and other lines?

Turning to reciprocity the candidate advanced the old economic arguments of the protectionists. The cheap food cry had been grossly exaggerated, he said, using it as a red herring to be trailed in front of the electors to blind them to the defects of reciprocity. He wanted to know how there could be a benefit where a cent or two cents was taken off the duty so far as the consumer was concerned when there was no bronze coinage in the western provinces, the difference would be pocketed by the middleman and merchant. People preferred to go along on the lines they had been living for years, to spend freely, live comfortably, and would continue along the lines they had lived for years past.

The candidate went on to quote the statements of American writers urging that American money should be invested in U. S. businesses, and not sent into Canada to develop its resources. That was a good policy from their standpoint, but what about Canada? He quoted opinions that the cattle would be sent south to Chicago for packing and drew a ludicrous picture of the country after reciprocity. It was only now that the States had been seeking to develop their resources in the vast natural resources of Canada.

Would men, some of them descendants of the United Empire Loyalists, sacrifice their country for a benefit which had been worked out at 45 cents per head per annum. On Thursday next the Liberal party would be snowed under there would be a landslide from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and then British Columbia was going to get justice instead of the cold shoulder from the Dominion government.

H. F. W. Behnken, M.P.P., occupied a seat on the platform, but did not speak.

CONSERVATIVES WANTED IT.

From 1896 down to the opening of this session the government has been persistently urged by the opposition on the floor of parliament, on the public platform, and through the press of the country, to do something so secure better trade relations with the United States.

They said we buy from them $217,000,000 worth, and sell only $164,000,000, showing a balance of trade of $112,000,000 a year against us. They said we buy from them $217,000,000 worth, and sell only $164,000,000, showing a balance of trade of $112,000,000 a year against us. They said we buy from them $217,000,000 worth, and sell only $164,000,000, showing a balance of trade of $112,000,000 a year against us.

With all the arguments at their command they said the government should try and get better entrance to their markets for what we have to sell, so that our trade would more nearly balance.

Only December last Hon. George E. Foster, writing for one of our magazines, advocated reciprocity in natural products.

Mr. Northrop, one of the chief opposition front benches in speaking on the address in reply to the speech from the throne at the opening of this session, said if we could only secure reciprocity in natural products, they (the Conservative party) would hold up both hands for it.

Mr. Northrop, the Conservative member for East Huron, also speaking on the address in the same debate, in the clearest and most emphatic language, supported the views so clearly and forcibly expressed by Mr. Northrop. See what Dr. Chisholm said:

"Personally I would favor reciprocity if I thought we could get a fair deal. The very word 'reciprocity' implies fair dealing, even-handed justice, with no selfish, or dishonorable advantage taken by either party. In fact, reciprocity has been defined as a condition of things in which equal rights and mutual benefits are given and received."

RALPH SMITH

ON RECIPROCITY

HOW CONSUMERS

WILL BE BENEFITTED

Liberal Candidate for Nanaimo Addresses Electors of Spoke on Issue of Election

Before a large and enthusiastic audience at Spoke on Monday evening, Ralph Smith delivered the following address:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen:—I am very glad to see so many people here this evening. I have to discuss for a few minutes to-night a very important question, in my opinion the most important question that I have ever had to discuss in this constituency. This is the fourth time that I have been before you, and three times in succession I have been successful in being elected as member for this district. And I hope and trust to be just as successful this time.

The question that I have to discuss with you this evening is to my thinking a most difficult and complex one. I have followed the whole debate in the House of Commons, and I think it is a very easy subject to follow. My honorable opponents, Mr. Sheppard and Mr. Hayward, have already laid the matter before you according to their ideas of it. Now, I have nothing to say against either of them. They are both honorable gentlemen. Any difference that I have had with Mr. Sheppard has been confined to political matters, and I think that he has just as much right to his views on the subject as I have or anyone else.

What I want to talk to you about is reciprocity. Many people have not even heard of it, and all they think of reciprocity as something that has been dropped down from the sky. In 1854 Canada entered into a treaty with the United States, by which articles of food and natural products were to be admitted free of duty into each country. It was satisfactory then. Why not now? In 1848 England abolished the corn laws and established free trade. Up to that time Canada had had the preference in the home market, but after that it could not compete with the other grain raising countries, and was forced to find a market in the United States. Now, up to that time the eastern Canadian agriculturists had produced more than could be consumed in Canada, and the British government then tried to find a market in the United States. This treaty, entered into in 1854, was repealed in 1858, and during that time no one thought of annexation. Let me ask any one is trade with the United States likely to bring about a political union? It was British ministers that brought about our last reciprocity treaty, and do you think they are likely to try and bring about a union? I rather think not. In 1858 the United States refused to continue the treaty. In 1878 that great Conservative leader, Sir John A. Macdonald, whom we all honor, inaugurated his great National Policy. The tariff was to be taken off certain foodstuffs going into the United States and the Canadian ministers were to try and bring this about. For eighteen years this great leader was in power, and the authorities thought it necessary to negotiate with the United States for reciprocity. In 1891 Sir J. A. Macdonald held an election, and the policy of that election was, or rather is, exactly what we are going to do to-day, reciprocity in natural food products and stuff with the United States. In 1894 Sir John Thompson went to Washington, he failed to negotiate for reciprocity. He failed to do so. We have not been able to negotiate any satisfactory arrangement until 1910. It has been said that Premier Laurier said: "We have gone to Washington for the last time." It is impossible for the president of the United States to leave his dominions during his term of office, therefore it was necessary that Canadian ministers should go to Washington to arrange the reciprocity treaty. What is this reciprocity pact? It is simply this: Free trade with the States on certain food supplies. It can be cancelled to-morrow if we wish it. Duties would be reduced on a certain class of manufactured articles and natural products from 2 1/2 to 5 per cent. We must think how this will benefit Canada. As a member in the Dominion House I have the interests of the country at heart, and I must say that I think it will benefit the country. We are not thinking how this will benefit England or the United States, but how it will benefit Canada. In my opinion it will lead to permanent peace between the two great Anglo-Saxon nations of the world. If you think it is your duty to vote against reciprocity, why do so, and you will not doubt have a very good reason for doing so. How is this going to help the farmers in Canada?

It is true that the manufacturers of Canada are against this reciprocity. Also the fruit growers, and the farmers, a limited extent. If Canada grows an over-production of food products, why should she not find a market among the 90,000,000 of people towards the south? (Hear, hear.) Last year Mr. Price Ellison stated that we consumed $30,000,000 worth of foodstuffs, and of that we produced 47 per cent, while 53 per cent of that amount was bought. Now is there any particular reason why we should have to pay a tax on that foodstuff? You may say raise the tariff and compel the people of Canada to grow more. Or again say bring stuff from the eastern provinces and do away with or make it impossible for us to bring in foodstuffs from the United States. In bringing in foodstuffs from the eastern provinces we would find it far more expensive than paying the duty on it coming from the United States. These men that do not want reciprocity would buy from their neighbor to-morrow if they could get it ten cents cheaper. I am a free trader, and I will say that I believe the tariff to be the enemy of the consumers, and the only man who makes the man who manufactures. Reciprocity will give eastern Canada, with its great surplus products, a market in the United States. It gives British Columbia a market in the United States.

Foodstuffs without paying a tax on them. The great effect that this agreement is bound to have is to reduce the cost of living. This and the reduction of the tariff rates will be of great benefit to the consumers of this country. What is going to be the result? The great development of this province. What are we going to do? We are going to take the duties off coke, lumber and fish, going into the United States. We are going to develop the great natural resources of this province by finding a market for these products towards the south of us, and we are going to increase the home market for agriculturists. We are going to build towns and villages, and make a great home market for the people of this province. Mr. McBride says that the time will never come in British Columbia when the agricultural products of this province will be able to fill the market of this province. The United States is now a manufacturing country and Canada an agricultural one. And what is more natural than the exchange of products. I had the honor of being the Canadian representative at the coronation this year, and in the House of Commons I heard Mr. Asquith say that if the Americans wanted reciprocity and to cut down their high tariff, neither England or Canada could stop it. And I tell you that if the Americans want free trade or reciprocity neither Mr. McBride nor Ralph Smith nor any other person is going to stop them. (Loud Applause.)

I think Premier McBride cast a slur on British Columbia and the British character when he said that trade with the States would ruin us. We have done business with the United States before, and since confederation, and the trade between Canada and the United States has been increasing for the last 45 years, have we during that time been gradually annexed? There has never been a time in the history of Canada when the loyalty to the Empire is as great as it is now. The trade with England and the United States is greater than that of Canada and the United States, and yet the Englishmen are not afraid of annexation. Because we do not reason why the United States is no reason why the flag is going to suffer. For the first time in the history of this province the cry has gone forth, "Be ware of the other fellow." What is England doing at present? Why she is concluding a great international treaty with the States, and so will bring about a great consolidation of the Anglo-Saxon nations and bring a great peace into the country. Germany stands alone and in danger. But this consolidation will, I hope, settle the world's peace for all time. Mr. Taft was certainly against the Democratic party in the States, but when this big issue came up he at once became the leader of that party. And so I hope that you will all assist in getting this great universal peace throughout the world.

ARTISTIC TILES ARE PRODUCED IN VICTORIA

Rapid Growth of Unique Industry—Application of German Methods to Mosaics

An industry which deserves the encouragement of the citizens of Victoria, not only for what it is but what it may be, has been established since March last on Wharf street, at No. 1318. The proprietors, George Ager and R. W. Marsh, have taken the title of the Canadian Mosaic Tile Company, and are floating a company to develop the work. At the present time hand labor is employed, but it is the intention to install power machinery, and move the present hand press to Victoria, where a branch factory will be established. The power plant will enable the output to be much increased, and already the proprietors are flooded with orders for the "Argilla" flooring tiles, which are the specialty of the business.

A Times representative was shown the process from commencement to the finished article to-day. The material used is three parts Vancouver Island sand to one of cement, and the coloring matters to form the face of the tile are placed in the mould. In some cases the same material is used, but in that each color is put in separately, and the mould is then subjected to a pressure of 150 tons, after the back of the container has been filled with the necessary sand and cement. The pressure gives the tile a smooth surface, and the tile comes out ready to dry. Once it is thoroughly dried, the claim is made that it is absolutely impervious to moisture, and the tile showed that while it remained as damp as before, a tile of German manufacture, declared to be of the best type, absorbed water quickly from the face.

For strength the company has a test of 250 lbs. depending from a tile eight inches each way, without it giving in the least, and tests up to 400 lbs. have been made without any fracture of the tile. As a fire-resisting material, Mr. Marsh showed a tile made by him when in Singapore which was in the upper floor of the Five Sisters Block when it was destroyed by fire, and after the conflagration the tile was picked up in the ashes unbroken, though it has since been fractured through an accident. The colors are still quite fast upon it.

The moulds have to be made in Leipzig, Germany, as there is no place on the American continent where they can be obtained, and the company is prepared to accept orders for special designs from architects, which will be promptly made up into the patterns required. The writer was shown in proof of this offer a fluer-de-lis design made to the order of a local architect recently. The company can now put out a tile at 80 cents per square foot, as against $2.50 charged by other concerns which have to keep stock designs.

About one-tenth of the coloring matter used in the design is sufficient to give the right tinge to a when mixed with other cement of good quality, and the results are absolutely permanent. The company has the order for tiles with the B. C. coat of arms upon them for government buildings throughout the province. In addition to the tessellated pavement at the entrance, was one of these copies of the coat-of-arms, which elicited much and well-deserved praise.

They are doing well with fireplace tiles as well as with flooring contracts, the latter being, owing to their non-absorbent properties, suitable for many building uses. When additional capital has been secured, and the business is put on a larger basis, Mr. Marsh will take a trip to Europe to get into touch with the latest designs in the Continental factories.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU
One Established Under Auspices of Trades and Labor Council.

The B. C. Employment and Statistical Bureau and Advisory Board for the Trades and Labor Council and the B. C. Federation of Labor, Branch No. 1, has been organized, and is now in operation at Labor Hall.

Placards announcing the business of the office have been posted, informing employers of labor that help will be supplied them, and employees that on the payment of a fee of fifty cents, (to be collected when work is obtained), they may register with the bureau.

The board of directors of the agency is composed of representatives from the various unions throughout the city. The special department of the bureau for advising the Trades and Labor Council and B. C. Federation of Labor will be in regard to immigration and labor conditions.

At the meeting to organize the bureau it was decided that communications should be sent to the leading papers of England, giving information as to conditions of living here. Statistics will also probably be sent to the department of labor in Ottawa.

WOMEN IN THE REALM OF AIR

Mrs. Johnstone, Whose Husband Was Killed at Denver, to Take Lessons in Aviation

New York, Sept. 14.—Although both the Wright and Curtiss schools steadfastly refuse to teach feminine pupils at any price, woman is gradually forcing her way into the hazardous game of aviation and followers of the sport are discussing with interest the report that Mrs. Ralph Johnstone, of Kansas City, whose husband met death at Denver, will soon come to New York to master the aeroplane. It is understood that she will take lessons at the aviation college on Long Island, a professional aviator. Friends of hers say that Mrs. Johnstone spoke of plans along these lines during the recent aviation meet in Chicago.

There are only two licensed women aviators in this country to-day, Miss Mathilda Molant and Miss Harriet Quimby, both of whom are now on Long Island. Blancha Scott has made some noteworthy flights in Ohio, but as yet has obtained no license. Miss Molant, it will be remembered, took up aviation after the tragic death of her brother, John B. England and Germany, each with one licensed woman aviator, bring up the rear in this branch of feminine achievement. In England the honor is held by Mrs. Muriel Hawlett, wife of the well known novelist, in Germany by Miss Nellie Rees, a sculpturist. The latter won her license only a few days ago. Mrs. Johnstone has been in the aviation meet on Long Island, September 23 to October 15.

CONSERVATIVES LINE UP FOR PACT

With great glee the Tory papers make freak features of every case of Liberals allegedly turning down their party affiliations and announcing themselves as opposed to reciprocity. Often these men have been requested by their former Liberal organizations to resign, and these always give reciprocity as their reason for going over to the Tories. Locally we have some instances of this kind. Some say they have "business" reasons for the change. None of these reasons apply to the list of fourteen corporation heads and solicitors so frequently referred to led by such men as Sir Edmund Walker, Z. A. Lash, et al. These men unquestionably put "The Interests" first. In forming their new party alliance they have naturally chosen the party sworn to protect "The Interests" or monied corporations.

In the list below are leading men in nearly every county in Ontario and other parts of Canada. They are of the people and for the people. Unlike the Liberal deserters, they see in reciprocity a business advantage. In one case reciprocity threatens corporation interests and in the other the men voicing the sentiment of the people as a whole see in reciprocity the greatest good to the greatest number. It should not be difficult for the people of Canada to see in which class they personally belong. An overwhelming mass of evidence is on the side of reciprocity.

In Aroostook, a similar farm brings $3,500 to $4,000, same kind of land, same kind of farmers, only difference is the market. Reciprocity will give us that market."

N. Rhodes.

COL. J. Z. PRAZER, Burford township, Brant county, who ran as a Conservative candidate for the legislature of Ontario, strongly favors reciprocity.

CONSERVATIVES

WILLIAM COTTELL, and his five sons, of Sundridge, who "never voted for a Liberal government," are throwing all of their influence for reciprocity.

JAMES JOHNSON, president of the Fruit Growers' Association, of Norfolk County, a Conservative, is supporting reciprocity.

N. S. NESBITT, a Toronto Conservative, is out strongly in favor of reciprocity.

THOMAS HAMMILL, a Conservative, of South Simcoe, has consented to become a reciprocity candidate in opposition to Mr. Haughton Lennox, nominee of the Conservative party.

H. J. DAVIS, cattle breeder and judge of live stock, of Ingersoll, says that while it is hard to turn one's back on his party, he must support reciprocity and principle.

LESLIE McMANN, Thorold, a Conservative, favors reciprocity and may run as a candidate in Welland County.

PETER LUND, Warden, B.C., a supporter of the Conservative party in British Columbia, advocates reciprocity because it will take the taxes off the necessities of life, such as food, fuel, and shelter.

JOHN PRITCHARD, who never cast a Grit vote in his life, is working for a M. Martin and reciprocity in North Wellington.

WILLIAM McDERMOTT, ex-reeve of West Garthrairie township, a life-long Conservative, is supporting A. M. Martin and reciprocity in North Wellington.

ALFRED HUTCHINSON, of Arthur township, who has voted both ways, but mostly Conservative, and is president of the East Wellington Farmers' Institute, supports reciprocity.

CHESTER NICHOLSON, a Conservative, graduate of the Ontario Agricultural College and ex-secretary of the East Wellington Farmers' Institute, supports reciprocity.

GEORGE M. BALLACHY, a Conservative farmer of West Brantford township, declares himself in favor of reciprocity.

L. H. EDMONDS, Elenheim, Ontario, known all over the country as a Conservative, writes the papers, that he is not Conservative enough to miss the opportunity to open up an unlimited market for horse dealers and farmers. He thinks that every farmer who has his own interests at heart, will drop politics for this time and vote for reciprocity.

RICHARD JOHNSON, a Conservative of Norfolk County, will vote for reciprocity, as will also his sons and other relatives.

JOHN HERRON, Conservative M.P. for MacLeod in the last parliament, says he will support reciprocity, believing that its advantages will far outweigh any possible disadvantages. He "can find no one in his constituency who thinks otherwise."

C. E. HAMILTON, a Conservative of Weyburn, Saskatchewan, predicts that all the candidates who oppose reciprocity in Saskatchewan will lose their deposits.

EX-MAYOR BRICHER, a Conservative of Berlin, is supporting Mackenzie King and reciprocity.

JOSEPH ATKINSON, Conservative, of Tuckersmith township, South Huron, says he thinks reciprocity will benefit everything the farmer has to sell.

GEORGE LAYTON, another Conservative farmer of South Huron, says the agreement will give him a better market for cattle and hogs.

J. J. IRVINE, of Leadbury, who is described as not merely a Conservative, but a real Tory, says the reciprocity agreement is just fine.

S. O. TAYLOR, member of the Durham Conservative Association, says he will find it awful hard to go to the polls and mark his ballot for a Grit, but he is convinced that the tariff agreement is a benefit to rural Canada, and he is prepared to stand by his opinion.

GEORGE ANDERSON, Mountain View, Prince Edward County, a former Conservative M.P., says he is proud to say that he will not stick to the Conservative party when such a course is folly. He estimates that not one farmer in twenty in his neighborhood is opposed to the agreement.

WILLIAM BARKER, a prominent Conservative of Prince Edward County, says he is certainly in favor of reciprocity.

AUSTIN HAZZARD, of Wallaceburg, described as not merely a Conservative, but a real Tory, says this reciprocity business looks all right to him.

WILLIAM TROTTER, Conservative, Chatham Township, favors reciprocity as a farmer.

FRANK SHAW, Conservative, of East Branch, favors reciprocity as a farmer.

JAMES McORMACK, Conservative, deputy reeve of Hawick township, says the only trouble with the agreement is that it does not go far enough.

EDWARD HEA, of Raleigh, says he is a Conservative, but wholly in favor of reciprocity.

J. H. DOWNEY, Conservative mayor of Whitby, expresses himself as strongly in favor of the agreement.

DAVID GALBRAITH, Whitby, a Conservative, favors reciprocity.

MR. SYRPH, a young Conservative, of Durham-Oxford county, is stamping for the Liberal candidate and reciprocity, basing his stand on market quotations compiled by himself during the past five years.

MR. ARMSTRONG, who describes himself "as a John A. Macdonald Tory," is stamping for W. A. Buchanan, the Liberal candidate, in Medicine Hat, and reciprocity.

JOHN A. CAMERON, manager Kent Farmers' Produce Company, Township of South Huron, says he has always been a Conservative, is now, and will continue to be one, but he doesn't care who knows that; this time, he will vote for McColl and reciprocity, thus, as he says, voting for the benefit of himself and all farmers.

One hundred thousand others who will cast a "silent" vote.

BOURASSA ALLIANCE TO BREAK UP EMPIRE

HAMAR GREENWOOD SCORES CONSERVATIVES

Melancholy Spectacle Presented by Tory-Nationalist Combination

Montreal, Sept. 14.—The policy of Mr. Bourassa and Mr. Monk means the breakup of the British Empire, and I for one hope that the people of Quebec will not support them.

In these words Hamar Greenwood, M. P., summed up his opinion of the Nationalist propaganda on the question of the navy in the province of Quebec.

"As an Imperialist, one is bound to be struck with the abnormal and, I think, melancholy spectacle of Mr. Bourassa and Mr. Monk with their respective supporters, stumping the old province of Quebec with the motto, 'Down with the Navy.' Mr. Bourassa's Nationalist opinions and fearless exposition of them are well known, but I am bound to say that I never expected to see a Quebec Conservative on his platform, under his banner which stands for making Canada a third-rate republic rather than maintaining her, what I hope she will always be, the first Dominion of the crown."

"Imperialism, the position is this: The Prime Minister, together with his fellow prime ministers of the overseas dominions, meets the British government around a table in a really Imperial council, and each prime minister agrees on a naval policy subject to the confirmation of his House of Commons. That confirmation was given, the Prime Minister of Canada by the Canadian House of Commons and the Imperial Navy policy of today is the result."

DR. KING'S CAMPAIGN

Addresses Largest Political Gathering Ever Assembled in East Kootenay.

Fernie, B. C., Sept. 14.—Dr. King's rally last night at the Grand theatre was in point of numbers the largest political gathering ever assembled anywhere in East Kootenay. An overflow meeting had to be arranged for in the Fernie opera house, at which Mr. A. Macdonald spoke, while Dr. King was speaking on the platform in the Grand theatre.

Between two and three hundred people had to go to the Fernie opera house, and the big Grand theatre was packed as full as it was the night before, when the Premier and A. S. Goodhue and W. L. Ross spoke. When Dr. King, who was well received, and who confined his remarks to the one issue of reciprocity, had finished his address to the large audience, he went over to the Fernie opera house and Mr. Macdonald came to the Grand and spoke for thirty minutes, going into the eight hour bill record and controversy of the day.

Dr. King refused to consider the trade pact in any other than a plain, economical light, without any side-light with a political tinge.

HUNT FOR KIDNAPPER

Five Hundred Men Are Searching For Ruffian Who Attacked School Teacher.

Winnipeg, Sept. 14.—Searching for the kidnapper of Miss Eleanor Price, 500 men beat the bushes all night and a cordon of armed men, several miles long, was drawn along the border.

Miss Price, a Riverside school teacher, returned to her home Tuesday night in a state of nervous collapse after a man believed to be Henry "Bill" Williams, alias "Bill" Miner, of Hannah, N. D., had detained her for 30 hours in the dense woods near Snowflake, Man. Bloodhounds were put on the trail at once and immediately picked up the scent five miles from the school house where Miss Price was held. The man had captured her Monday afternoon. The man was surrounded, but managed to escape, and so far has eluded capture.

Early this morning a man believed to be the one wanted broke into the bar of the Western hotel at Snowflake to replenish his supply of liquor. The proprietor was awakened by the noise and hastened downstairs, armed, and a rapid interchange of shots followed, and the proprietor, William Adams, was shot in the leg and badly wounded, while his assailant escaped. Half-dressed men came running from all directions and started in pursuit, while the border cordon was notified by couriers of the shooting.

C., and is now in the city, where he is now touring Canada called upon by C. G. James, deputy minister of agriculture at the parliament buildings to-day and discussed their plans for Ontario.

THOUSANDS CREET PRIME MINISTER

CONTINUES TRIUMPHANT TOUR IN QUEBEC

Sir Wilfrid Speaks in Support of Hon. Dr. Beland—Farmers and Reciprocity

Montreal, Sept. 14.—Flanked by the great Laurentian hills and centred in a spot of wild beauty, this little town, one of the political anomalies of Quebec, was visited by the prime minister yesterday. It returns to the federal parliament a Liberal member, and to the provincial parliament a member, and to the Nationalist party, and Sir Wilfrid, fresh and smiling after the exertions of Tuesday, came to support the candidature of Hon. Dr. Beland, who is also running in Quebec county. An enthusiastic reception was accorded Sir Wilfrid by the crowd of 4,000 people, and he spoke strongly, clearly and effectively in support of his platform.

Accompanying him were Hon. Dr. Beland, Hon. Chas. Devlin, provincial minister of mines, and Hon. J. E. Caron, provincial minister of agriculture, who spoke out strongly in favor of reciprocity from a provincial and federal standpoint.

D. O. Lesperance is the Conservative candidate here.

The prime minister said: "Reciprocity was advocated by Sir John Macdonald, Sir Adolphe Chapleau and the other chiefs of the great Conservative party. I say great Conservative party, and I salute them." At that moment Sir Wilfrid raised his hat in respect to their memory. But, quickly replacing it, he said: "But the present leaders, what are they—only pigmies."

Sir Wilfrid joked about the name of the opposition candidate, Mr. Lesperance, and said he thought he would always have Lesperance, which means "Hope," of being a member.

He dwelt on the prosperity of the country, and prophesied increased prosperity for Canada under a Liberal administration. He said that all the farmers from east to west are in favor of the pact.

He attacked the statement of those who said that the navy would mean increased taxation for the people, and remarked that such speakers were only fooling the people.

Hon. Dr. Beland made his appeal to the farmers against the minority Liberal and capitalist. Sir Wilfrid, however, was the greatest man in the history of Canada and was not like Sir Hugh Graham, Sir Edmund Walker and Sir William Van Horne, who were laughing at the farmers who desired advantages from reciprocity.

After giving well known reasons for the construction of the navy, the postmaster-general said he voted against the resolution of submitting the question to the people on the ground that it would have raised prejudices and turned the English-speaking provinces against Quebec.

He continued that all the English-speaking provinces would return candidates favorable to the navy, and that they would not repeal the navy bill, and so, Mr. Lesperance would have finally to bow his head to the Liberal navy.

BOSCOWITZ ACCEPTS CARRUTHERS' WAGER

Takes Montreal Man Up—Winning, Victoria Hospitals Will Benefit

Montreal dispatches to-day state that James Carruthers, a grain merchant in that city, is offering to wager $1,500, as follows: $500 that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's government will not have thirty of a majority, $500 that he will not have twenty of a majority, and $500 that he will be defeated, the loser's money to be donated to three Montreal hospitals.

Mr. Carruthers' wager has been promptly taken up by a Victorian, Joseph Boscowitz, who deposited a cheque with the Times this morning. Mr. Boscowitz accepts the Montreal man's bet on these conditions:

(a) The bet (if any) won by Mr. Carruthers to be devoted to charities in the city of Montreal.

(b) The bet (if any) won by Mr. Boscowitz to be devoted equally between the Provincial Royal Jubilee hospital at Victoria, and St. Joseph's hospital at Montreal.

ANGLICANS AND UNION OF CHURCHES

Discussion at General Synod—Results in Appointment of Committee

London, Ont., Sept. 14.—Church union was discussed in its various phases by the General Synod of the Anglican church yesterday. Rev. Canon Tucker took a strong stand for union, but claimed that the Anglican church should first accomplish more work. Archdeacon Benson, of Moosejaw, supporting this stand, said there were many small towns of the west where there were "five banks, large schools and far places of worship, five little barns with five little tinpan organs and five little underpaid, poorly paid ministers." Among those who opposed unionism was Archdeacon Mackenzie of Brantford, who thought the members of the synod should first bring together the high and low factions within the church itself.

Judge Ermatinger of St. Thomas proposed that there should be a union of understanding between churches as to missions, dividing them up to the best advantage economically.

This was combatted, it being pointed out that such a plan was directly opposed to the mission policy of the Anglican church.

A committee was appointed to meet with a committee of all other Protestant churches to discuss the subject of church union.

VERDICT GIVEN TO

With respect to the question of the earnings, I take it that the ordinary meaning of the word "earnings" is income derived from the carrying on of the business, which income, of course, may be in the nature of cash or of either written or unwritten money obligations. Now the agreement expressed by says that the vendor is to retain for his own use all earnings of properties up to the day of giving up possession. It is not, I think, as urged by Mr. Davis, entitled only to the earnings up to the third of January, 1910, the date of the agreement. The language in the agreement is express; it says that he is entitled to retain all the earnings up to the day of giving up possession. It is only another way of saying, as I have already said, that he is entitled to the full beneficial enjoyment of the property until the last cent is paid. According to his evidence, and the evidence of Mr. Lindsay, the $700,000 which he withdrew arose wholly, at all events practically wholly, from the sale of the coal which he did not. There was no evidence which I recollect which would suggest that any portion of this money, at all events any portion of the money worth considering—because I think Mr. Davis admitted that there might be an inconsiderable portion arising from some other source for practical purposes there was no evidence which I recollect tending in any way to rebut the statement of the defendant that this money arose practically wholly out of the sales of the coal. From that point of view, I think they were clearly earnings. And to my mind it makes no difference whether he went through the form of declaring a dividend to possess himself of the money or whether he did not. I therefore think it is not necessary to have any reference with respect to the question of the earnings, at all events that $700,000, unless Mr. Davis is of opinion, on reflection, that there is a considerable portion of this money arising from some other source than the sale of coal.

Now with respect to the coal and the coke, I had some trouble in getting the true view to take of the rights arising with respect to these coal heaps. But the best conclusion I can come to is, with respect to the one that has been sold to the Canadian Pacific railway, I think under the terms of the agreement which has been produced here that this coal now belongs to the Canadian Pacific and has so belonged since the time of its delivery; that in other words, there is only now a debt due with respect to that coal to the Wellington Colliery Company. And if that is so, then the money arising from that sale must clearly be earnings. With respect, however, to the other coal which has not been sold, and the coke, I do not think that the ordinary meaning of the word "earnings" would be wide enough to sweep that coal and coke within the purview of the expression. As I say, I think the term "earnings" means income derived from the carrying on of the business, which income may be in the shape of cash or written or unwritten money obligations. The coal and the coke, other than the coal that has been delivered to the C. P. R. has never been sold or agreed to be sold.

THINKING THEMES

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

The world began in chaos and ends with the stars. I do not know whether I have heard that somewhere or whether it is original. It is one of those sentences one seems to have heard.

At any rate it contains truth. It might be better to say, the world began in chaos and ends with the human brain. For the brain is perhaps more wonderful than the stars.

But the core of the thought is, that out of lawlessness is formed, law, out of the formless comes form, out of sand and ashes arises houses, out of dust of the ground develops man.

The drift of things, the direction of the universe, as far as we can guess its plan, is not toward decay but toward increased organization. All things are not dissolving into their original elements are constantly combining to make more and more perfect and complicated things.

Any one given object passed, dies, we, as individuals, "from day to day do ripe and ripe, and then from day to day we rot and rot," but thereby does NOT hang any tale. The Sum of things is Humanity, the general Body of Truth, such entities as Science and Religion, and the Universe itself, keep eternally young. There is no least symptom of old age, or defeat, or warning, in the Universe.

second wilderness in that direction also?

The historian will have to record that a small population of about five million people, scattered widely across a continent, in a moment of weakness, misled by a number of politicians, was induced to vote for isolation, blockade and paralysis. If, instead of a tariff obstruction some mighty convulsion had raised a physical barrier, such as a lofty mountain chain, at once every effort would have been put forth by (unfailing or otherwise) to overcome the impediment, to gain the blessing of reciprocal trade.

We did what no individual trader ever does, what no municipality ever does of doing, we drove our customers from our doors. Every merchant advertised to draw trade, we advertised to the world to keep their trade away.

During the days of the Sixties in England, pirates were as common and so-called "blockade" that "merchants" were afraid to venture their cargoes at sea. Commerce was reduced to a minimum. Long after piracy had been driven from the oceans, Canada threatened every merchant coming to this country that a large part of his goods would be confiscated, and commerce was diminished accordingly. Time and again piracy and warfare with its blockades have compelled people to stick to their home market. The tariff tries to do the same.

The farmer, casting wistful eyes across the river to Buffalo, is assured that he has a home market at Hamilton or Vancouver. The student of economic science is compelled to place piracy, blockading fleets and tariffs in the same category as obstructions of trade.

Previous to Confederation in 1867, there were tariffs between the different provinces. In the year 1861 the population was given by the census as follows:

New Scotland	339,857
New Brunswick	252,047
Prince Edward Island	89,857
Upper Canada and Lower Canada	2,507,697
British Columbia	3,024

Total 3,174,382

Four of these provinces had each less population than a fair-sized city, and yet each of these little communities had its own protective tariff. Each had its own tariff, each its own immediate wants, built its little Chinese wall around its own frontiers, and taxed the manufacturers of the sister provinces as readily as Russia or the United States. Such is the testimony of the historian.

On the first of July, in the year of our Lord, 1867, in the twinkling of an eye, every customs barrier vanished. Absolute free trade, perfectly free reciprocity, were established with the unanimous approval of both political parties. At once the people of the different provinces began to inundate each other with the different productions. They did everything to "slaughter" each other's "market," to "dump" their cheap goods. Not a whisper has been raised in protest, and if any man were to advocate the restoration of the tariffs and say that Ontario should be protected from Quebec, he would be looked on as an intellectual derelict.

When Confederation was proposed, one of the strongest arguments was that then they would get rid of the customs obstructions. The country declared unanimously for absolute free trade and still holds firmly to that belief.

BALLOONIST INJURED.

Forced to Cut Gas Bag When Caught in Storm.

Auburn, Maine, Sept. 14.—Half an hour from a swift flight through rain, hail and cold, and unable to make the outlet valve or rip cord of his balloon work properly, President H. Perry Sherman, of the Williams County Aeronautical Society, crashed through a knife and fell back unconscious into the basket. The balloon dropped swiftly to the ground and Sherman is in a local hospital.

It was on a farm on the outskirts of the city that Sherman ended the longest balloon flight ever made in New England by an unaccompanied aeronaut. This distance is from Pittsfield, Mass., where he ascended early in the morning, to this city, and is approximately 200 miles.

Soon after leaving Pittsfield, Sherman's balloon, the Springfield, ran into a heavy rain storm, which changed into this than the aeronaut encountered a bitterly cold air current. Feeling the effects of the exposure, Sherman several times tried to descend, but was unable to deflate the bag. His strength was nearly exhausted when he finally resorted to his knife.

ENDS IS LIFE

South Manchester, Conn., Sept. 14.—Despondent because he was accused of having eloped with a 14-year-old girl, Thomas A. Wright, 30 years of age, committed suicide in a hotel here. Wright was employed on a farm at Simsbury and the girl was an orphan, who had been bound out to his employer. Ten days ago Wright hired an automobile and took the girl to the home of his sister in Manchester, alleging that she had been cruelly treated by her employer. Wright was worried by the publicity given his act.

SUE FOR MONEY.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 14.—Stockholders in the United Wireless Telegraph Company who purchased their stock from George H. Parker, now in prison on McNeill Island, have started an action to procure a return of their investments from the private property of Parker.

Three suits were filed in the Superior Court by J. J. Decker, Christy Decker, J. W. McCurk and Mary L. Strathberger, all of whom say they bought stock under representations by Parker or his agents.

THE POPE'S HEALTH.

Rome, Sept. 14.—Monsignor Kennedy, rector of the American College, at Rome was the first American to be received by the Pope since his illness. He found His Holiness bright and cheerful, and really vigorous, considering his age. The Pope walked about his rooms with an elastic step. He showed no signs of fatigue, and was inclined to joke about his present indisposition, the reports of which he insisted had been exaggerated.
